ITALY'S CONTINUED HOSTILITY FORCES TRADE ROUTE CHANGE

LONDON, May 1—On the heels of a plain warning to Italy against siding in the war with Germany, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain may make a declaration before the House of Commons today regarding Italian threats against the Allies. Chamberlain will be given an opportunity to make a statement on this question when Arthur Henderson, Laborite, asks him whether the Allies have shown a willingness to discuss all their outstanding differences with Italy. Henderson announced he also will ask whether Italy has given any indication that she is willing to negotiate. The warning to Italy took the form of an order to British merchant ships not to use the Mediteranean and an announcement of "certain precautions" in that sea. This move was directly attributed to the increasingly hostile attitude of Italy's leaders and press. British passengers and freight liners plying to the East were instructed to use the longer route around the Cape of Good Hope. Commenting on the Mediterranean situation, an authoritative spokesman said: "The government frankly deprecates the fact that too much attention is being paid to these precautions. "It is obvious that the government has had to consider precautions against every possible contingency however remote. They have been taken only (Continued on Page Four)

Rep. Fish Calls Members Of Committee To Draft Vital Party Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 1 — A drive to put the Republican party on record in its 1940 platform as unalterably opposed to the United States taking part in Europe's second World War was launched today by Rep. Hamilton Fish, N. Y., ranking G.O.P. on the house foreign affairs committee. Asserting his purpose is to identify the Republican party at "the party of peace in America," Fish urged the G.O.P. to adopt "a strong anti-war platform" at its Philadelphia convention. He declared his opposition to any "platitudes or generalities" and demanded a "ringing challenge against interventionism." The New Yorker offered a personal anti-war plank for his party's consideration. He also called a conference of all Republican members of the house foreign af-

NEW BIGELOW BALLOT LOOMS

Revised Petitions Okehed By State Official; Names To Be Sought

COLUMBUS, May 1 — The revised Bigelow "50 at 60" old age pension plan petitions were approved, as to form, today by Secretary of State George M. Neffner. The Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, will now circulate the petitions in the hope of obtaining sufficient signatures to place the once defeated pension plan on the ballot in November. Essentially the proposal is the same as the voters defeated by a three-to-one margin last fall, but certain clarifying revisions have been made. Single persons over 60 would be entitled to a monthly pension of $50, and married couples $80. Revenue would be raised through a 2 percent tax on land of $20,000 an acre or more valuation and a state income tax of one-fourth the sum paid the federal government, in addition to funds at present available for pensions. In the revised form Bigelow specified that the $20,000 figure means the value of the land, exclusive of buildings. This was a disputed point in the previous proposal.

TAX ON SAVINGS LOOMS, BANKER TELLS C. OF C.

WASHINGTON, May 1—The president of the Investment Bankers of America, Emmett F. Connelley of Detroit, today warned the U. S. Chamber of Commerce that the federal government is heading toward a taxation of private savings to finance spend-lead policies. Continuing the chamber's assault on the New Deal, the banker told the 1,500 delegates meeting in the annual convention that the "government-must-do-it - boys" have a plan for the people's savings.

HATCH'S "CLEAN POLITICS" BILL DEFEATED, 14-10

WASHINGTON, May 1 — The house judiciary committee today killed the senate-approved Hatch "clean politics" bill which would have extended the ban on political activity by federal employees to include state and local employees paid partially by federal funds. The vote was 14 to 10. The Democratic majority of the committee, members said, rejected the bill on the ground that it would have interfered with state rights. The bill, sponsored by Senator Hatch, D., of New Mexico, was passed by the senate after a bitter fight during which leading New Deal senators attempted to defeat the measure.

DETROIT, May 1—The Detroit Free Press, the only morning newspaper in Detroit, has been sold to John S. Knight, Akron, O., and Miami, Fla., publisher, it was announced in today's edition by E. D. Stair, publisher of the 109-year-old independent newspaper. Details of the sale were not disclosed.

OHIO ATHLETE VICTIM OF MACHINE SHOP INJURIES

GALION, May 1—Internal injuries received while he was working in the Galion high school machine shop today caused the death of Richard Danner, 17-year-old senior and captain of the school's basketball and golf teams. Charles Aplias, instructor, said Danner was struck in the stomach by a wooden file handle when it slipped off a piece of metal in a high-speed lathe yesterday.

DEWEY BACKERS UNABLE TO WIN RHODE ISLAND

BOSTON, May 1 — Having failed to pull a pledged delegation out of Rhode Island, backers of Thomas E. Dewey for the Republican presidential nomination dropped another New England state today with Massachusetts Republicans voting in primary for an unpledged delegation to the national convention. The delegation totals 34 votes. The big contest was over four posts as delegate-at-large, with an organization unpledged slate whipping an old age pension faction which had endorsed Dewey. In the Democratic primaries, the slate committed to Postmaster General James A. Farley for the presidential nomination, was running well ahead. Massachusetts probably was not as bitter a loss to the Dewey forces as Rhode Island. Charles P. Sisson, a co-manager of the Dewey campaign, hails from Rhode Island and was expected to swing support to his candidate but it did not materialize enough to bring victory.

CROOKSVILLE LOSES 368

COLUMBUS, May 1—Crooksville, Perry County, suffered a population loss of 368 persons between 1930 and 1940, Charles Q. Bloomquist, areas census supervisor, revealed today. The 1940 tabulation gave Crooksville a population of 2,883 compared to 3,251 in 1930.

Relief, Economy Become Vital Election Topics

COLUMBUS, May 1—Relief and economy became firmly entrenched today as gubernatorial campaign issues in the primary, and promised to play major roles in the battle for votes prior to the November election. Latest to attack Governor Bricker's economy administration as "false" and to criticize him for allegedly neglecting needy persons in Ohio was former Gov. George White, one of the seven candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for chief executive at the May 14 primary. Addressing 700 Franklin County Democrats in Columbus, White challenged Bricker to a debate "on his theory of economy." White's principal opponent, former Gov. Martin L. Davey, and others have played Bricker on the same issues. Referring to the relief crisis in Cleveland last autumn, White declared: "I pride myself on economy at the sacrifice of any group of citizens who were as hungry as they were in Cleveland. I am willing to meet Governor Bricker on the stump on his theory of economy." Pensioners Addressed The former chief executive said he was seeking another term "on his record" and reminded the au-

Collegians Riot After Rochester's Abduction

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 1—Eight Harvard students were arrested today during a riot that followed the kidnapping of "Rochester," Negro radio and film comedian who appears with Jack Benny, by Massachusetts Institute of Technology pranksters from a Harvard smoker. More than 2,000 youths from both institutions battled and then set on 50 Cambridge policemen summoned by a riot call. Police hats were snatched, occasional blows were struck and water was dropped from dormitory windows as study-weary boys attempted a drive on Radcliffe College, a girls' institution. Police drove a wedge into the milling crowd near Harvard Square, dispersed the students and arrested the eight. They were charged with disturbing the peace. The Negro valet-comedian, whose real name is Eddie Anderson, was met at Providence, R. I., airport by Tech students who said they were a Harvard reception committee. Instead of taking him to the Harvard smoker, they took him to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity house at Tech. There he entertained and was entertained until nearly morning, finally being taken by an automobile caravan to the Harvard smoker at Memorial Hall. When his performance at the hall was over, the students of both institutions poured into Harvard yard. Scuffles broke out in the growing crowd. The cry of "on to Radcliffe" was raised. Both student bodies swung together in a solid front and headed into Harvard Square where they were finally dispersed. "Rochester," who stood apart from the rioting students, forgave the Tech pranksters, saying: "They can kidnap me any time, I had a lot of fun."

FAYETTE COUNTY INVOKES FIVE-DAY LICENSE LAW

WASHINGTON, C. H., May 1—Fayette County Probate Court today stopped a flow of non-residents seeking marriage licenses in the county when it invoked a law requiring that five days must elapse after the marriage license is applied for before it may be issued. Recent increases in the number of Columbus residents who have appeared and obtained licenses to wed by stating that the bride-to-be was a resident of the county made the law necessary. The last application for a license was made on April 24, by Gerald Reams, 41, Cincinnati, an auto worker, and Gertrude Daubitz, who gave her residence as Madison Mills. When informed of the five days wait necessary, they departed.

European Bulletins

LONDON—Nothing less than the "greatest effort" of the British people will suffice to defeat Nazi Germany, Dominions Secretary Anthony Eden warned in a speech today. "It is inevitable that as this war proceeds we shall have bad days as well as good before the struggle is closed with final victory," Eden said. PARIS—Reports received in Paris today stated that the Nazi airdrome at Hartvik, Norway, was bombed and 11 large German bombers were destroyed in a raid last night. The reports also said that the little band of Norwegians holding the Negra fortress near the Swedish frontier has finally established contact with the Allied troops. STOCKHOLM — Sweden will maintain its neutrality "come what may," Premier Per Albin Hansson said in a May Day speech today. "We are constantly pursuing efforts to safeguard the peace of our people," he told a large demonstration. LETTER FOR F. D. R. COLUMBUS, May 1—President Roosevelt was urged today to seek re-election, in a letter dispatched to the White House by R. M. Winegardner, Washington C. H., a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Berlin Says Il Duce Ready To Assist At Any Time Stoeren Remains In British Hands, Reports Say

BERLIN, May 1—Wholesale surrender of Norwegian troops to the rapidly advancing German forces in Norway was claimed by the Nazi high command today. Coincident with announcement of new successes by the German air force in a series of fleet bombardments and aerial battles, military headquarters issued this communique: "The advance of German troops in Norway continues. "Fighting occurred yesterday near Trondheim. "The number of Norwegian troops which have surrendered north of Lillehammer is far greater than previously announced. "Remnants of the second Norwegian division, consisting of 200 officers and 3,500 men, have abandoned their arms. Forty additional British troops also have surrendered. "Seven cannons, 125 machine-guns and 250 military automobiles were captured intact. "An additional 1,200 Norwegians surrendered in the mountains near Lomen, between Fagernes and Sognefjord. Air Attacks Successful "Our air force successfully attacked British naval units off Namsos. One anti-aircraft cruiser was sunk by direct hits with medium calibre bombs. "One heavy cruiser was severely damaged by direct hits by bombs of the same calibre on the quarter-deck. In addition, one destroyer and five transport ships were sunk by bomb hits, while five other transports suffered damage. "During British air attacks on Stavanger, eight British planes were shot down by interceptions and anti-aircraft fire. During an attack on the Fornebu airport near Oslo Monday night, one British plane was shot down. "A new British attack on Fornebu last night resulted in small material damage. "There is nothing particular to report from the Western Front. One French Potez plane was shot down in an air duel. "A British debacle is now looming in Norway, German quarters declared, and the war is assuming a faster pace. With Britain "hamstrung" in the north, these circles said, it is hardly a secret that the Italo-German alliance stands ready to harass her in the South. Premier Mussolini's active participation on the side of Germany was noted. (Continued on Page Four)

Germans from Roeros in a swift, flanking movement, it was claimed, and then pursued them southward down the Oester Valley, where a heavy battle was reported in progress today. On the Narvik Front Norwegian forces were said to have driven the German garrison from Gratangen, 20 miles north of the iron ore port above the Arctic Circle. In addition, Allied naval artillery batteries were said to have scored a direct hit on the German ammunition supply dump. In still another reported reversal for the Germans, it was claimed that the German airdrome at Hartvik was wrecked and 11 German planes there destroyed. WHEELER READY TO BE NOMINEE INSTEAD OF F. D.

NEW YORK, May 1—If President Roosevelt does not run for a third term, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D) Montana today is ready to offer himself as a candidate. "Frankly," Wheeler said, "if President Roosevelt is out I am a candidate. But if he wants it he can get the nomination and there is no use kidding yourself." Wheeler was asked if he thought Roosevelt would run again. "I can't conceive of his being a candidate," Wheeler replied. "I think he is too smart a politician to want it or to take it. I think he has too much respect for American tradition, and besides, what he would want with four more years of the presidency is beyond my comprehension." Wheeler was asked: "By process of elimination then, you are a candidate?" "That's right," he answered. Wheeler said he would make no active campaign to secure the nomination. "I have no organization and no money," he said, "but if the Democrats see fit to nominate me I, like a great many others, would be glad to accept."

40,000 Square Feet Of Sidewalk To Be Rebuilt

A work schedule asking for the construction of 6,000 lineal feet of curb and gutter and 40,000 square feet of sidewalk in Circleville will be sent to WPA officials for approval Thursday.

George Crum, sidewalk solicitor, said Wednesday that actual work will not begin before June 1, at which time the 58 men now working on the Atwater Avenue project will be transferred to sidewalk, curb and gutter work.

The work, requested by property owners, will cost 40 cents a lineal foot for curb and gutter and 9 cents a square foot for sidewalk.

Nearly 400 barrels of cement will be used for curb and gutter construction, and about 700 barrels for sidewalks, it is estimated. The work, which is expected to last for five months, shows a marked increase over the amount done last year.

The thermometer fell steadily during the night and as the temperature declined into the 30's the rain storm turned to snow. Warm pavements and lawns melted the snow as fast as it fell, however.

TAX ON SAVINGS LOOMS, BANKER TELLS C. OF C.

WASHINGTON, May 1—The president of the Investment Bankers of America, Emmett F. Connelly of Detroit, today warned the U. S. Chamber of Commerce that the federal government is heading toward a taxation of private savings to finance spend-lead policies.

Continuing the chamber's assault on the New Deal, the banker told the 1,500 delegates meeting in the annual convention that the "government-must-do-it-boys" have a plan for the people's savings.

He said the government angle is this: "The saver will be performing a disservice by withdrawing the amount of his savings from the flow of money spent for consumption. There will be no means for him to put the money back to work by investing it."

"Their solution is simply that the government must take the savings from the people and use them in a gigantic and apparently perpetual spending-lending program."

TORNADOES RIP THROUGH THREE STATES; 10 DEAD

Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois
Hit During Night; Toll
May Go Higher

MANY TOWNS TORN UP
Scores Of Injured Taken
To Hospitals; Rain Hits
Rescue Efforts

By International News Service
Tornadoes ripped through more than a dozen towns and cities in Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois last night and early today leaving a trail of death and destruction which was obscured by wrecked communication lines.

Estimates of the dead ranged as much as 50, but only 10 deaths had any confirmation.

The sheriff's office at Benton, Ark., reported seven persons were killed at Tull, a small community of about 100 persons 10 miles southeast of Benton in central Arkansas.

A motorist, H. A. Gillis of Sikeston, Mo., said he saw an automobile containing at least two persons swept over a bridge near Sikeston. Gillis said he was certain the occupants of the car had been drowned.

A Sikeston newspaper man reported he had seen a Negro killed when the tornado collapsed a house near Sikeston.

Three Storms Reported

At least three tornadoes raged over the three states for several hours. The Arkansas twister apparently blew itself out after wreaking its fury on Tull and the neighboring district. In Missouri, the tornado, reported to be 1,000 feet wide at some points, swept northeastward for about 60 miles in the southeastern portion of the state, then jumped over the Mississippi River into southern Illinois.

In Missouri, Sikeston, Diehlstadt, Bertrand, Chaffee, Wyatt and Charleston felt the storm. In Illinois the towns ravaged were Gale, Cache, North Mounds and Bellevue Park.

A third tornado blew over a small area west of Poplar Bluff, Mo., but so far as could be learned no great damage was done there.

It was reported without confirmation that some villages in the paths of the tornadoes had been wrecked.

Throughout the storm areas disrupted communications made a complete checkup of the damage impossible early today.

At Tull, Ark., half a dozen homes were said to have been levelled. Rescue parties were sent to the community from Benton.

At North Mounds, Ill., 19 Negroes were reported to have been hurt, some seriously, when nine houses were caved in by the demoniac winds.

Scores of injured persons were cared for in hospitals at Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Cairo, Ill.

Rescues Impaired

Lashing rains, lightning and high winds continued throughout the night in the wake of the tornadoes, adding to the difficulties of rescue workers.

At Chaffee, Mo., 10 miles southwest of Cape Girardeau, the tornado damaged some dozen homes and a number of persons were injured. Reports that some persons had been killed in the Chaffee district could not be verified at once.

MISS DAHY BARNETT

Miss Dahy Barnett, noted lecturer and home economist from Cambridge, Mass., will conduct a three day cooking school at the Grand Theatre, starting Monday, May 6 and continuing May 13 and May 20. Miss Barnett is a university graduate in Home Economics, and authority on food subjects. She is noted for the thoroughness and simplicity with which she conducts her programs. Each of the recipes will be good, practical foods that housewives will use many times.

She will devote part of each program to pastry making, as this seems to be the most difficult task for many women. She will show them how to make excellent pies, cakes and pastries, and tell them just why she does certain things to insure perfect results each time.

Miss Barnett contends that most any woman can be good cooks if they will just follow recipes as given, measure accurately, and use good ingredients. However, so many persons have the habit of guessing at measurements, therefore can never be sure as to the results. The cooking school will start promptly at 1:30 each afternoon, and continue until three o'clock, at which time many fine gifts will be awarded. After that the regular matinee screen program will be shown to those who attend. There will be no advance in admission prices for this big event.

Miss Barnett has suggested that all who can attend each session as she will present a complete new program of cooking each week.

TOWNE AND BAKER

The screen's famed writer-producer team of Gene Towne and Graham Baker will be in the guest panel with Annabella and Jose Iturbi when the meeting in Bing Crosby's Music Hall "takes up" Thursday, May 2. Bob Burns, the Music Mails and John Scott Trotter's orchestra will all be heard from as the clock rounds out an hour starting at 10 p. m. over the NBC red network.

Gene Towne and Graham Baker were allegedly the inspiration for the screwball comedy, "Boy Meets Girl," which was a smash hit on Broadway a few years back. Not satisfied with just writing for the cinema, they've recently branched out into producing which should call for a few barbed remarks from Bing and Bob. Annabella and Jose Iturbi are Music Hall veterans. Mrs. Eyrone Power has made several appearance in the Hall with Iturbi making his ninth showing.

The Crosby vocals are, "Pessimistic Character," and "I Haven't Time To Be a Millionaire," from his new movie, "If I Had My Way," and "Imagination," "Between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street," with "Sierra Sue" for his 1916 memory number.

STARS ON RADIO THEATRE

Frank Craven, William Holden, Martha Scott, Fay Bainter, Beulah Bondi, Thomas Mitchell, Guy Kibbee, and Stuart Erwin form one of the largest all-star casts ever to appear in the Radio Theatre. They'll all be in "Our Town" under the direction of Cecil B. DeMille on Monday, May 6, over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

"Our Town," written in play form by Thornton Wilder won the Pulitzer Prize on Broadway in 1933. It has been made into a United Artists movie soon to be released with the same cast that appear in the Lux Radio Theatre. Frank Craven will play the part of the narrator and Martha Scott will be heard as Emily Webb both having appeared in the movie and the stage play.

RADIO BRIEFS

Harry von Zell will be absent from "We, the People" and Era Stone's "Aldrich Family" this summer if plans go through for him to accompany Fred Allen to Hollywood for the Allen-Benny movie.

Biggest commentary opportunity from a scene of big-news-in-the-making was that afforded Bill Stern, ace sport reported of NBC, who was a passenger on the ill-fated Lake Shore Limited that was wrecked last week at Little Falls, N. Y., with a loss of 30 lives. Stern, slightly injured, made immediate contact with network officials in New York, offered to give an eye-witness account of the disaster. The latter decided against such a report on the grounds that it was too gruesome for bedtime listeners.

As further indication of the rise of musical culture and appreciation in America, Dr. Frank Black points to the Doctors' Orchestral Society of New York. This organization, made up entirely of physicians and surgeons, and now in its second year, will present its annual concert on May 10 in Town Hall, New York.

More than $23,000,000 has been expended to date in television research and development, according to O. H. Caldwell, former radio commissioner. It will be a billion dollar industry, he thinks.

Don't be surprised if Al Jolson bobs up with a new radio program to run in conjunction with his re-appearance on Broadway as star of a musical show.

It is being whispered in Broadway luncheon rooms that 20th Century Fox will again tie up the broadcast of the Kentucky Derby to one of its forthcoming productions.

Musicians in Bob Crosby's Dixieland Band and other swingsters stay at the Eastgate hotel in Chicago. The hostelry doubtless has other feature to recommend it but what intrigues musicians is that they can tell friends, "I'm staying at the East, Gate."

Sponsors of the Bob Crosby Saturday night swing festival have set Pat Barrett (Uncle Ezra) for a half hour summer series over the NBC-Red network.

Bess Johnson, star of "Hilltop House," has been approached to direct the summer stock plays of update New York's "Straw-Hat Circuit." Bess declined, as her five-day-a-week schedule is all she will handle during the hot summer months.

In addition to his new radio program Monday nights over the NBC-Red network, James Melton will make personal appearances around the Metropolitan area and will also do guest shots on other programs. MBS has booked Melton for its presentation of the opera, "Bittersweet," from Chicago next month, to start the ball rolling.

The Will Rogers Memorial Fund has launched a drive for more funds. Kay Kyser's orchestra, with Judy Garland and Bette Davis participating, have made a movie short for the organization which is being shown in 3,000 theatres all over the country.

TORNADOES RIP THROUGH THREE STATES; 10 DEAD

Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois Hit During Night; Toll May Go Higher

MANY TOWNS TORN UP

Scores Of Injured Taken To Hospitals; Rain Hits Rescue Efforts

By International News Service
Tornadoes ripped through more than a dozen towns and cities in Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois last night and early today leaving a trail of death and destruction which was obscured by wrecked communication lines.

Estimates of the dead ranged as much as 50, but only 10 deaths had any confirmation.

The sheriff's office at Benton, Ark., reported seven persons were killed at Tull, a small community of about 100 persons 10 miles southeast of Benton in central Arkansas.

A motorist, H. A. Gillis of Sikeston, Mo., said he saw an automobile containing at least two persons swept over a bridge near Sikeston. Gillis said he was certain the occupants of the car had been drowned.

A Sikeston newspaper man reported he had seen a Negro killed when the tornado collapsed a house near Sikeston.

Three Storms Reported

At least three tornadoes raged over the three states for several hours. The Arkansas twister apparently blew itself out after wreaking its fury on Tull and the neighboring district. In Missouri, the tornado, reported to be 1,000 feet wide at some points, swept northeastward for about 60 miles in the southeastern portion of the state, then jumped over the Mississippi River into southern Illinois.

In Missouri, Sikeston, Diehlstadt, Bertrand, Chaffee, Wyatt and Charleston felt the storm. In Illinois the towns ravaged were Gale, Cache, North Mounds and Bellview Park.

A third tornado blew over a small area west of Popular Bluff, Mo., but so far as could be learned no great damage was done there.

It was reported without confirmation that some villages in the paths of the tornadoes had been wrecked.

Throughout the storm areas disrupted communications made a complete checkup of the damage impossible early today.

At Tull, Ark., half a dozen homes were said to have been leveled. Rescue parties were sent to the community from Benton.

At North Mounds, Ill., 19 Negroes were reported to have been hurt, some seriously, when nine houses were caved in by the demoniac winds.

Scores of injured persons were cared for in hospitals at Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Cairo, Ill.

Rescues Impaired

Lashing rains, lightning and high winds continued throughout the night in the wake of the tornadoes, adding to the difficulties of rescue workers.

At Chaffee, Mo., 10 miles southwest of Cape Girardeau, the tornado damaged some dozen homes and a number of persons were injured. Reports that some persons had been killed in the Chaffee district could not be verified at once.

Home Economist Appears Here

MISS DAHY BARNETT

Miss Dahy Barnett, noted lecturer and home economist from Cambridge, Mass., will conduct a three day cooking school at the Grand Theatre, starting Monday, May 6 and continuing May 13 and May 20. Miss Barnett is a university graduate in Home Economics, and authority on food subjects. She is noted for the thoroughness and simplicity with which she conducts her programs. Each of the recipes will be good, practical foods that housewives will use many times.

he takes the blame. The younger sister discovering the truth, is racked by the dilemma growing out of her love for the man on one hand and loyalty to her sister on the other.

As the man in the case Robert Cummings gives a performance which ranks with his excellent work in "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" and "Everything Happens at Night." Laraine Day gives an outstanding performance as the younger sister, and Jean Muir plays the older sister with compelling force. Billie Burke is charming as the mother of the two girls and others who merit honorable mention include Ann Morris, Esther Dale, Charles Waldron, Frank Milan, Rand Brooks, Paul Stanton and Ruth Tobey.

Elaborately staged and costumed, with its night clubs and social gayeties contrasted with the New York courtroom and the Tombs, the picture was directed by Robert Sinclair with deft skill and human touches.

BLAIR FORMING 4-H CLUBS FOR SERVICE IN 1940

County Agricultural Agent Arranges Numerous Conferences

PROJECTS ARE CHOSEN

500 Members Participated During Last Year, Records Show

Four-H clubs throughout Pickaway County will be organized within the next few days, F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Blair met with students of Williamsport school at 11 o'clock Wednesday and with students of Atlanta at 12 o'clock and discussed with them the projects which are to be offered this year. He will meet with New Holland students interested in 4-H work Thursday at 1 o'clock.

A Darby Township club will be organized when the county agent meets with interested boys and girls Friday evening at a community meeting held in the school auditorium at 7 p. m. The meeting, sponsored by the Darby Township Institute Committee, will begin with a covered dish supper, and will be followed by music and other entertainment. A special feature of the program will be a talk on "The Present Farm Program" by Mrs. Beryl White from the State Agricultural Conservation Office. Everyone in the community is invited to come and take part in the supper and program that follows.

Four-H Club work is a part of the Agricultural Extension Service dealing with rural youth between the ages of 10 and 20, who organize themselves into a group with their own officers and an adult man or woman adviser. Each member has an individual project on such subjects as corn, dairy, flower, potato, pig, sheep, vegetable, clothing, food, canning, nature, engineering or poultry.

Last year there were 500 4-H Club members in the county.

CHICAGO'S MILK WAGON DRIVERS VOTE TO STRIKE

CHICAGO, May 1—More than 4,500 union milk wagon drivers went on strike in Chicago today, and union officials said there would be a complete stoppage of all home and store deliveries effective immediately.

The strike was called at an emergency meeting of the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union which lasted into the early hours of the morning. It was called in protest against a proposed wage cut by dealers.

Immediately on receiving word of the strike, a group of dealers went into conference to discuss how milk could be delivered to hospitals, shut-ins, and homes where milk was needed imperatively for babies or other reasons. A contract between the union and the dealers expired at midnight last night with the wage question deadlocked. The dealers seek to reduce the drivers' pay from a basic scale of $48 per week to $30 plus commissions. The union insists the cut will not be accepted.

ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE PUTS MAN, 38, IN PEN

CINCINNATI, May 1—Still professing his innocence, Richard Schell, 38, today appealed his conviction on charges of armed robbery in connection with the $6,740 holdup of a railway express messenger last June 20. After denying his motion for a new trial, Judge Dennis J. Ryan yesterday sentenced Schell to 10 to 25 years in Ohio Penitentiary. Schell had been free on $5,000 bond pending his motion for a new trial. After sentencing, Judge Ryan raised the bond to $10,000.

LIGHT CRASHER CITED

Junior L. Hill, 18, 159 Hayward Avenue, was arrested at 4:10 p. m. Tuesday by Patrolman Miller Fissell on charges of running a red light at Court and High Streets. He agreed to appear in Mayor W. B. Cady's court Saturday at 7 p. m. He was driving a 1½ ton Chevrolet truck.

At Revival

THE Rev. William Belnes of Denver, Colorado, is the evangelist appearing at the Church of Christ in Christian Union in revival services being conducted the remainder of this week each evening at 8 o'clock. The revival ends May 5.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

The elementary grades will present a May Day program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A May pole dance and the various numbers that go with that type of program will be presented all in costumes. The public is invited to attend. The program will be outdoors if the weather is favorable.

A group of school patrons and teachers met Thursday evening to organize a P-T. A. A program consisting of some musical numbers and a talk by Supt. McDowell was presented. An election resulted in the selection of Mary Riddle for president, Mrs. Clyde Michel, vice president and William Bricker for secretary-treasurer. The first meeting of the new organization will be next fall shortly after the beginning of the new school year.

The Senior Class will present the play "Grandma Goes Hollywood", Friday, May 10.

The Darby girls won a volleyball contest with Scioto at Commercial Point last week. On Monday this week they lost by the same margin, two games played out of three. The boys lost their softball game to the Scioto boys on Scioto's diamond.

Some pupils from the State School for the Blind under the direction of Mt. Steece, their field representative, presented a very interesting program to the school on Friday, April 19. It consisted of several numbers of music, explanations of the work done at the school, and some demonstrations.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held at the school building, May 17, the Baccalaureate Services at the M. E. Church, May 19 with Rev. Wright in charge, and the commencement May 21 in the school auditorium. Rev. Harvey C. Hahn, Dayton, will deliver the address. The last day of school is May 22.

PERRY TOWNSHIP REHIRES CANUP, OTHER TEACHERS

Leslie Canup, superintendent of the Atlanta, Perry Township, school during the last year, has been elected to serve another term. The school board, meeting this week, announced that all other members of the staff had been offered new contracts for the 1940-41 school term.

Members of the faculty in addition to Mr. Canup: Harry F. Townsend, principal and coach; Betty Peters, history and science; Cyril E. Moore, vocational agriculture; Avah Fahenstock, English and Latin; Kathryn Baum, music; Elizabeth Raup, vocational home economics; Odile Peugeot, fifth and sixth grades; Helen Hatfield, third and fourth grades; Phyllis M. BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF Ohio Candidates FOR TREASURER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is another in the series of biographical sketches of candidates in the May 14 primary election. The articles may be published on date of release or anytime thereafter.

COLUMBUS, May 1—Neither the incumbent, Don Ebright, Akron Republican, nor Clarence H. Knisley, Bainbridge Democrat, has opposition for nomination for state treasurer in the May 14 primary election. Ebright defeated Knisley for treasurer in 1938 and they will battle it out again next November.

Ebright is serving his first term as treasurer, and Knisley, his predecessor in office, is now a member of the state industrial commission, appointed by Former Gov. Martin L. Davey. Returns of the 1938 election demonstrated that both candidates have large personal followings. Ebright won two years ago by polling 1,162,695 votes to 1,072,082 for Knisley.

Elected for a two-year term, the state treasurer elected in November will take office January 13, 1941. He will receive $6,500 annually.

Brief biographical sketches of the candidates follow:

Republican

Ebright, Don M., Akron—Born in Columbus in 1902, he attended public schools there. In 1920 he entered Ohio State University to study banking, finance and business administration and was graduated in 1925. The year of his graduation Ebright went to work for Former State Treasurer Harry Day as a clerk. In 1927 he was advanced to cashier.

In 1931 he went to work in a Columbus bank as assistant cashier. Two years later, former State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton sent him to Akron to take charge of a liquidating bank. In 1936 he was appointed Akron city finance director, a post he held until he was elected state treasurer.

Ebright is married and the father of two children, James, 13 and Mertie Lou, 11.

BLAIR FORMING 4-H CLUBS FOR SERVICE IN 1940

County Agricultural Agent Arranges Numerous Conferences

PROJECTS ARE CHOSEN

500 Members Participated During Last Year, Records Show

Four-H clubs throughout Pickaway County will be organized within the next few days, F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Blair met with students of Williamsport school at 11 o'clock Wednesday and with students of Atlanta at 12 o'clock and discussed with them the projects which are to be offered this year. He will meet with New Holland students interested in 4-H work Thursday at 1 o'clock.

A Darby Township club will be organized when the county agent meets with interested boys and girls Friday evening at a community meeting held in the school auditorium at 7 p. m. The meeting, sponsored by the Darby Township Institute Committee, will begin with a covered dish supper, and will be followed by music and other entertainment. A special feature of the program will be a talk on "The Present Farm Program" by Mrs. Beryl White from the State Agricultural Conservation Office. Everyone in the community is invited to come and take part in the supper and program that follows.

Four-H Club work is a part of the Agricultural Extension Service dealing with rural youth between the ages of 10 and 20, who organize themselves into a group with their own officers and an adult man or woman adviser. Each member has an individual project on such subjects as corn, dairy, flower, potato, pig, sheep, vegetable, clothing, food, canning, nature, engineering or poultry.

Last year there were 500 4-H Club members in the county.

CHICAGO'S MILK WAGON DRIVERS VOTE TO STRIKE

CHICAGO, May 1—More than 4,500 union milk wagon drivers went on strike in Chicago today, and union officials said there would be a complete stoppage of all home and store deliveries effective immediately.

The strike was called at an emergency meeting of the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union which lasted into the early hours of the morning. It was called in protest against a proposed wage cut by dealers.

Immediately on receiving word of the strike, a group of dealers went into conference to discuss how milk could be delivered to hospitals, shut-ins, and homes where milk was needed imperatively for babies or other reasons.

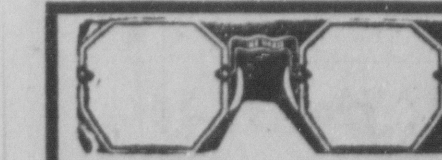

A contract between the union and the dealers expired at midnight last night with the wage question deadlocked. The dealers seek to reduce the drivers' pay from a basic scale of $48 per week to $30 plus commissions. The union insists the cut will not be accepted.

ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE PUTS MAN, 38, IN PEN

CINCINNATI, May 1—Still professing his innocence, Richard Schell, 38, today appealed his conviction on charges of armed robbery in connection with the $6,740 holdup of a railway express messenger last June 20. After denying his motion for a new trial, Judge Dennis J. Ryan yesterday sentenced Schell to 10 to 25 years in Ohio Penitentiary. Schell had been free on $5,000 bond pending his motion for a new trial. After sentencing, Judge Ryan raised the bond to $10,000.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

The elementary grades will present a May Day program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A May pole dance and the various numbers that go with that type of program will be presented all in costumes. The public is invited to attend. The program will be outdoors if the weather is favorable.

A group of school patrons and teachers met Thursday evening to organize a P. T. A. A program consisting of some musical numbers and a talk by Supt. McDowell was presented. An election resulted in the selection of Mary Riddle for president, Mrs. Clyde Michel, vice president and William Bricker for secretary-treasurer. The first meeting of the new organization will be next fall shortly after the beginning of the new school year.

The Senior Class will present the play "Grandma Goes Hollywood", Friday, May 10.

The Darby girls won a volleyball contest with Scioto at Commercial Point last week. On Monday this week they lost by the same margin, two games played out of three. The boys lost their softball game to the Scioto boys on Scioto's diamond.

Some pupils from the State School for the Blind under the direction of Mt. Steece, their field representative, presented a very interesting program to the school on Friday, April 19. It consisted of several numbers of music, explanations of the work done at the school, and some demonstrations.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held at the school building, May 17, the Baccalaureate Services at the M. E. Church, May 19 with Rev. Wright in charge, and the commencement May 21 in the school auditorium. Rev. Harvey C. Hahn, Dayton, will deliver the address. The last day of school is May 22.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF

Ohio Candidates FOR TREASURER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is another in the series of biographical sketches of candidates in the May 14 primary election. The articles may be published on date of release or anytime thereafter.

COLMBUS, May 1—Neither the incumbent, Don Ebright, Akron Republican, nor Clarence H. Knisley, Bainbridge Democrat, has opposition for nomination for state treasurer in the May 14 primary election. Ebright defeated Knisley for treasurer in 1938 and they will battle it out again next November.

Ebright is serving his first term as treasurer, and Knisley, his predecessor in office, is now a member of the state industrial commission, appointed by Former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Returns of the 1938 election demonstrated that both candidates have large personal followings. Ebright won two years ago by polling 1,162,695 votes to 1,072,082 for Knisley.

Elected for a two-year term, the state treasurer elected in November will take office January 13, 1941. He will receive $6,500 annually.

Brief biographical sketches of the candidates follow:

Republican

Ebright, Don M., Akron—Born in Columbus in 1902, he attended public schools there. In 1920 he entered Ohio State University to study banking, finance and business administration and was graduated in 1925. The year of his graduation Ebright went to work for Former State Treasurer Harry Day as a clerk. In 1927 he was advanced to cashier.

In 1931 he went to work in a Columbus bank as assistant cashier. Two years later, former State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton sent him to Akron to take charge of a liquidating bank. In 1936 he was appointed Akron city finance director, a post he held until he was elected state treasurer.

Ebright is married and the father of two children, James, 13 and Mertie Lou, 11.

Democrat

Knisley, Clarence H., Bainbridge—Born at Bainbridge, Ross County, July 2, 1897, Knisley attended elementary school there and was graduated from Bainbridge High school.

During the World War, he served in the U. S. Navy as a seaman. After the war he worked in banks until 1933, when he was appointed secretary of the Public Utilities Commission by former Gov. George White.

He served in that capacity until he made a successful bid for the state treasurer's post in 1936. He was defeated for reelection by Ebright two years later. In 1939 he was named to the state industrial commission to serve until 1941.

In 1922, Knisley married Mary E. Baum. They have two children, Scott, 13, and Jane, 10.

ASHVILLE By S. D. Fridley

John Beker, superintendent of Harrison Township roads, said Tuesday evening the roads over the township are in good shape and getting better every day. Has some patching and tar to apply and the patch work is being done now. Believes in doing his work well. Both work don't pay, he says. The township trustees, his boss board meet next Monday evening.

We had two new "movers-in" Tuesday. Fred Barthelmas and family came from Columbus and now occupy the dwelling of the late Albert Runkle on Long Street. And Mrs. Tharp now occupies the Holt dwelling by the Kraft restaurant moving here from Williamsport territory.

Earl Boyer has purchased from William Boyer a fine located building lot in East Lawn addition. Haven't been able to contact proud Mr. Boyer yet but we are guessing there's to be a new dwelling for those Boyer twin sons in the not far distant future. Nothing too good for those youngsters.

A perfectly fine appearing, all-closed in truck appeared here yesterday parked at the Ashville Bank. It was in charge of two well dressed fine looking gentlemen but this was no protection against "that third" all the strangers get. These "youngsters" proved to be Harry Phebus, Circleville, and George Depoy, Bainbridge. They were distributing sales tax stamps here to the bank, distributing point for local territory. The boys had with them aboard the truck 105,650 dollars worth of these stamps to deliver on this trip and said that the largest load in value they had yet handled on a single trip was stamps worth $753,000. Told us that two trucks cover all state territory.

NAZIS GIVE UP RAILROAD CITY

many, it was said, "is merely a matter of time."

German quarters professed no surprise over Britain's action in withdrawing her merchant fleet from the Mediterranean which was characterized in Berlin as a "re-treat" and a tactical victory for the totalitarian states in this area.

Supply Line Longer

It will compel the Allies to lengthen by several transportation weeks the vital lines of empire supply, and this will undoubtedly aid the German cause, it was said.

Turning to a description of an Allied air attack on the German-held Norwegian port of Stavanger, the statement claimed the destruction of eight British planes in fighting near the city and by anti-aircraft guns.

Germany's high command proclaimed these successes only a few hours after Adolf Hitler personally recognized the German feat of forging an overland link between Oslo and Trondheim as a blow which dooms the alleged Allied effort to strike at Germany through Norway.

Chancellor Hitler's comment was contained in an order of the day to German troops in Norway. It was made public while the German populace was still electrified by an official announcement claiming German conquest of the entire 300-mile Oslo-Trondheim railway.

(The British refused to admit the German claims, declaring Allied troops on the whole Trondheim-Dombas front were still resisting German attacks.)

fairs committee to meet Thursday for a round-table discussion of a "Keep Us Out of War" plank. Those invited included Rept. Eaton (N. J.), Tinkham (Mass.), Rogers (Mass.), Barton (N. Y.), Chipfield (Ill.), Corbett (Pa.), Vorys (Ohio), Stearns (N. H.), and Schiffer (W. Va.)

Explaining his purpose, Fish said:

"I think the incorporation of a plank in the Republican platform to keep the United States out of foreign war is the most important plank that could be adopted. I want to make it as specific as possible, so that the party will be pledged to uphold the American policy of neutrality and non-intervention."

"The framing of such a plank, reflecting the view of the peace elements within the Republican party and of millions of Democrats who are striving for more abundant life instead of more abundant death on the battlefields of Europe, will be essential to party success."

"There must be no platitudes, generalities or lip-service to peace. It must be ringing challenge against interventionism and for Americanism against internationalism, and a forthright answer to the disciple of despair who prattles that war is inevitable."

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

gressman-at-Large, also addressed the group.

In Youngstown, Congressman Dudley A. White, of Norwalk, continued his campaign for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator by another attack on New Deal policies.

The representative asserted that the "buy and bury" gold policy of the Roosevelt administration "has contributed toward making the conflict abroad possible."

"The New Deal is paying foreign gold producers approximately $15 per ounce above the world price existing before gold was devalued," White averred. "This has furnished them with credit and resources with which to wage war."

Kennedy vs. Bricker

William J. Kennedy, of Cleveland, another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, attacked one of his opponents, Davey, indirectly in a speech in Canton. Kennedy apparently was referring to Davey's recent promise to drop the sales tax if elected when he said:

"Taxes are not an issue in this campaign, and any man who promises to eliminate the sales tax and does not show how he will replace the 50-million-dollar item in the state treasury is a demagog of the first water."

An the same program with Kennedy was Congressman Arthur Anderson (D) of Missouri, who attacked the Bricker administration by asserting that "the Cleveland relief situation was a national scandal and a national disgrace."

"That single action on the part of the governor of your state will elect a Democratic governor of the state of Ohio in November," Anderson predicted.

Anderson contended that the Republicans "have done nothing for the United States," and that at present they "and a small group of southern Democrats are trying to sabotage the wages and hours act."

because of certain utterances which seemed provocative, particularly the reported utterances of a certain member of the Fascist Grand Council."

(During the last week several Fascist grand council members have proclaimed the solidarity of the Italo-German axis and warned that Italy's entrance into the war on Germany's side may not be far off.)

In the face of the recent bellicose utterances from Italy and the appointment of a pro-Nazi Italian ambassador to Berlin, British circles have consistently emphasized that the warfare in Norway has not necessitated withdrawal of British or French warships from the Mediterranean or Scandinavian waters.

The British have insisted that the British and French Mediterranean fleets have remained at full strength at Gibraltar, Malta, Suez and other Mediterranean bases. Reinforcements have been poured into the near East where a large Anglo-French army is known to have been concentrated.

SCHOOL WITHOUT BOYS

CASCADE, Colo.—This Colorado community has a public school attended entirely by girls. But that doesn't mean that the institution is one of those catering exclusively to young ladies of the smart set. It has remained solely a girl's school because so far no boy has come forward to be enrolled. "There just don't seem to be any boys of school age in this region," H. H. Hadley, El Paso County superintendent of schools mumbled.

To the People of Pickaway County:

Pickaway County engineering projects, which include WPA Projects, make such demands on my time that I find it impossible to campaign personally each voter in the county for nomination to the office I now hold.

County interests would suffer were I to turn my entire attention to vote-getting rather than engineering. So I take this means of asking your support in the primary. My record is clear and open to inspection by anyone. I have served the county to the best of my ability and pledge myself to continue with the same service in the event of nomination and re-election to a Second Term.

Projects now receiving my attention include the new county garage, a road and bridge over Darby Creek in Scioto Township, a road and bridge in Perry Township, two roads in Washington Township, a bridge in Tarleton and a bridge in Deercreek Township, in addition to routine office work.

Your support at the Democratic Primary will be greatly appreciated.

NAZIS GIVE UP RAILROAD CITY

many, it was said, "is merely a matter of time."

German quarters professed no surprise over Britain's action in withdrawing her merchant fleet from the Mediterranean which was characterized in Berlin as a "retreat" and a tactical victory for the totalitarian states in this area.

Supply Line Longer
It will compel the Allies to lengthen by several transportation weeks the vital lines of empire supply, and this will undoubtedly aid the German cause, it was said.

Turning to a description of an Allied air attack on the German-held Norwegian port of Stavanger, the statement claimed the destruction of eight British planes in fighting near the city and by anti-aircraft guns.

Germany's high command proclaimed these successes only a few hours after Adolf Hitler personally recognized the German feat of forging an overland link between Oslo and Trondheim as a blow which dooms the alleged Allied effort to strike at Germany through Norway.

Chancellor Hitler's comment was contained in an order of the day to German troops in Norway. It was made public while the German populace was still electrified by an official announcement claiming German conquest of the entire 300-mile Oslo-Trondheim railway. (The British refused to admit the German claims, declaring Allied troops on the whole Trondheim-Dombaa front were still resisting German attacks.)

mans there could not hold out more than a week.

The British operations against Roeros were based from Stoeren, which remains in British hands despite reports to the contrary, according to information reaching Stockholm.

In addition, reports from Norway failed to confirm German claims of the capture of Dombaa. Norwegian soldiers from Navik, who reached the Swedish border and were interned, predicted that after a week the Germans at Narvik would flee to the Swedish frontier.

Commander Escapes
They added that the German commander at Narvik and members of his staff escaped in the disguise of stokers and that the Germans there are now commanded by subalterns. The Norwegians said they were arrested by the Germans April 9, but were released when the Nazi's food supplies began to run short.

According to late dispatches from Oslo, the German military headquarters there regard Narvik as lost.

Albert Aronson, correspondent in Norway for the newspaper Sociala Demokrat, reported that a German plane yesterday scored a direct bomb hit on a British destroyer at Namsos. The destroyer, he said, exploded and sank.

His dispatch added that incessant German air raids were carried out against Namsos and that many Allied soldiers there were killed and wounded. Two German planes were shot down, he said.

Aronson also reported that Allied forces had driven the Germans back in fighting north of Steinkjer, and that Norwegians in that area annihilated a German patrol, killing 23 of its members.

He also said five British officers had informed him that Allied forces, supported by artillery, were now between Dombaa and Stoeren.

While the situation in central Norway remained obscure in view of the conflicting Allied and German claims, latest reports indicated that the Germans advancing up the Oester Valley had been halted below Stoeren.

In addition it appeared that the overland junction of German troops linking Oslo with Trondheim, was effected only by a few Germans who crossed the hills in the Stoeren region and were temporarily checked by the Norwegians at Kvikne before contacting the German column moving down from Trondheim.

Allied forces, according to these reports, still have a firm hold on the Dombaa-Ullsberg railway.

Tex Carleton's Effort Thrills Cincinnati Fans

Veteran Right-Hander Picked Up During Winter Shuts Out Champions Without Single Safety; Cullenbine Thanked

CINCINNATI, May 1—Tex Carleton bounced right back today from comparative obscurity to an everlasting place in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Rescued from Milwaukee in the American Association last year by Brooklyn, the 34-year-old right hander repaid in kind at Crosley Field yesterday as he set the Cincinnati Reds down without a run or a hit while his Dodger mates tallied thrice.

In the dressing room, Carleton danced around and shouted his jubilant feelings to all who would listen. He shook hands with his happy teammates. He congratulated almost reverently Right Fielder Cullenbine whose circus catch of Frey's drive in the sixth saved the perfect record.

"After the sixth inning," Carleton related between breaths, "I knew I had a no-hit game in the making. I pitched with that in mind." Carleton, who was cast off by the Cubs after the 1937 season, retired in order the last 17 batters to face him.

Durocher Happy
From a barber's chair after the game, Manager Leo Durocher muttered through a lather covered face:

"It was a great performance, a great performance. It was a remarkable comeback for Carleton. It expressed his will to win in no uncertain terms."

Durocher claimed, incidentally, that Carleton pitched a no-hitter in 1929 against Toronto when he was with Rochester in the International League.

Catcher Herman Franks said that until the sixth inning he was more interested in a Dodger victory than a no-hitter.

"But then I caught the idea," he commented in his serious way. "I had Tex pitch deliberately from then on in. We both tired as the game neared its close."

The 10,544 Cincinnati fans were all for Carleton as the game progressed. When Goodman lined to Walker for the final out, a terrific roar arose from the then nearly hysterical spectators.

As Walker speared Goodman's drive, Carleton tossed his glove into the air and ran toward second base. He was grabbed by Second Baseman Coscarart, who gave the Dodgers their runs when he eluded a homer in the fifth with two on, and Shortstop Reese. They escorted him toward third base.

By this time the fans began to pour onto the field. Fifteen policemen formed a tight cordon and baseball's newest hero strode through that cordon.

Reds Use Walters Against Brooklyn

CINCINNATI, May 1—Spurred on by Tex Carleton's no-run, no hit performance against Cincinnati yesterday, the Brooklyn Dodgers prepared today to "shoot the works" in an endeavor to run their winning streak to 10 and shatter a record established by the New York Giants in 1918.

When they won 3 to 0 yesterday, the Dodgers tied the nine straight "to start the season" mark set by the New Yorkers.

Hugh Casey was to hurl for Brooklyn in the second game of the Red-Dodger series with Bucky Walters on the mound for Cincinnati.

A Ladies Day crowd of more than 30,000 was anticipated.

COLUMBUS, May 1—The home club is supposed to have the advantage, but today the western teams of the American Association were back on their home lots boasting a 22 to 19 lead in games played in the East.

Tomorrow, when Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul open their home season, the eastern clubs will have a chance to square things.

Also renewed will be the fight for the President's Trophy, awarded annually to the city which plays to the largest opening day attendance in proportion to population. Leader among the eastern cities was Louisville, with an attendance of 8,859 or 2.88 percent of the Kentucky city's population.

For any of the western cities to win the trophy the following approximate attendances must be recorded: Kansas City, 11,600; Milwaukee, 16,700; Minneapolis, 13,500, and St. Paul, 7,900.

Minneapolis was the leading club in the first eastern invasion, recording 8 wins against two losses to take over first place. Kansas City was second with 6 wins and 5 defeats. Milwaukee and St. Paul got four victories against six setbacks.

Only Indianapolis of the eastern division got over the .500 mark. The Indians won six and

ONLY MIRACLE CAN HALT 'BIM'

Great Bradley Racer Wins Praise After Easy Warm Up Event

By CLYDE L. REECE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1—Only mishap, or a miracle horse, can keep Bimelech from winning Saturday's Kentucky Derby and go on from there—his owner willing—to become a greater thoroughbred than Man O' War, Sun Beau or Seabiscuit.

That is tall talk, but it represents the expressed opinion today of experts who say that in "Big Bim" 80-year-old Col. E. R. Bradley, winner of four Kentucky derbies, has his greatest horse.

Bimelech was an outstanding colt when he ended his two-year-old career in 1939 with six victories in six starts, and he became ever greater when he made his 1940 debut with an easy victory over Joseph E. Widener's Roman in the Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland last week.

But "Big Bim" became a super horse yesterday afternoon when he practically walked to the wire over Gallahadion and Sirocco, in that order, and five other crack thoroughbreds in the mile $2,500 derby trial at Churchill Downs.

Trackside experts voted Bimelech the "greatest horse" ever seen. He jumped to the lead early in the race and, under restraint all the way, finished with two lengths to spare over Gallahadion and Sirocco. Behind came Connaught, Endy, Potranco, Black Brummel and Designer.

Jockey Freddie Smith, who will guide him in the $75,000 added derby on Saturday, gave "Big Bim" his head but once or twice, and when they passed the grandstand Smith casually turned to look over the crowd—a crowd which on Saturday is expected to number some 100,000 fans.

Many turf followers today were comparing Bimelech to Twenty Grand, and in the rush of praise even Johnstown was forgotten, despite the latter's one-horse victory in a field of eight, including Challedon and Heather Broom, in last year's derby.

The field this year will be small, as derby fields go, unless some of the owners change their minds late in the week.

The trial race changed the derby outlook overnight, but the probable stagers continued to be Bimelech, Moland, Pictor, Dit, Inscold, Gallahadion, Roman, Sirocco, Royal Man and the entry of Gallant Dream and Sky Dog.

Circleville High School golfers turned on the heat Tuesday to win a South Central Ohio League match from the Wilmington team on the Snow Hill court at Wilmington. The team totals were Circleville, 7 1/2; Wilmington, 4 1/2.

Ted Moon, playing No. 1 for the Red and Black, scored a 79, but was able to win only a half point. Grogan, his opponent, coming through with a 78. Bob Moon in No. 2 slot scored an 80 to win 2 1/2 points and Johnny Woods tallied 83 to gain a clean sweep. Woods had five pars and a birdie on his first nine to end it with a 40. Frank Geib in No. 4 position scored a 94 to split his match with Schamerloh, each getting 1 1/2 points.

The Tigers have now won one and lost one match in the South Central Ohio competition, Washington C. H. gaining a verdict on the Fayette course a week ago.

THE NARVIK SAGA

THE greatest mystery so far in this war is the Norwegian seaport and ore-shipment town of Narvik. Now the British seem to have it and now the Germans, and now both or neither of them. The harbor is full of sunken ships and the hills are full of wandering troops and fleeing Norwegians, and the sky is full of warplanes, and the neighboring shores and forests all have their own secrets.

The armies and ships have been supposedly fighting for iron ore, but from the intensity and secrecy of the whole operation they might as well be fighting for fiords filled with oil and mountains of solid gold.

There's glamor in those hills and waters. There is also fear and hope and life and death and tense human struggle and war strategies which themselves are mysterious. It will be a great story when it can be told. There should be some new Kipling to tell it.

MANNERS FOR YOUTH

THE intelligence and self-reliance of youngsters is one of the marvels of the present day. Adults admit freely that sons and daughters or nieces and nephews have a better practical understanding of life than they themselves had at the same age. Children may be passionately devoted to the comic sections of daily newspapers, but they also read the news. Domestic politics and world wars are well within their scope of interest and opinion.

This has all seemed good to many of their elders. But one thing has troubled both parents and teachers. Rudeness has seemed to be an inevitable part of the freedom of action of youth. The question might be raised whether good manners among adults haven't suffered a set-back, too, but that isn't the immediate point. The point is that bad manners are so prevalent that something must be done about them.

At any rate, emphasis on true manners—meaning thoughtfulness of others and behavior which considers the rights of fellow beings—is finding a place in many public schools. One junior high has prepared its own "Code of Behavior", applying it by not rushing through halls, by not pushing and shoving on street cars and busses, by mannerly conduct at athletic contests and school assemblies.

The goal isn't artificial good manners, but the real thing, and when the young folks have added that to their other fine qualities, they'll have a combination to be proud of and hard to beat.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

TO DO MUCH very reliable analyzing a war expert needs some dependable information to base his reasoning on. That's what our American army and navy wizards are extremely lacking in, relative to the Baltic-Scandinavian situation. Reports from German sources, on the one hand, and from Allied sources on the opposite hand, are so conflicting that no Yankee guesser can guess with better than the merest modicum of probability. The expert's job is to be an expert, however, and ours are hard at it. Generally they admit that they haven't more than the haziest idea what they're talking about. A few profess to be fairly confident, but even their "ifs" and "buts" profusely decorate their summations.

The last World war's early progress was comparatively obvious. The Germans told of the progress they were making and the Allies had to recognize it.

TOO MUCH LYING

This was a stalemate until the Germans invaded Norway. Since then there's been such a deal of lying, on one side or the other, or both, that no report means anything in particular. In short, our experts haven't had any sure-enough facts to draw conclusions from. On an average our army and navy folk surmise that Herr Hitler is out on a limb in Norway. This, though, is on the supposition (as the Allies assert) he lost one-third of Germany's navy in effecting his Norwegian landing.

If he did (an "if" again) the experts don't believe he can keep his expeditionary army reinforced or supply it. If he can't do that, the experts' opinion is that his northern expeditionaries will be chewed up piecemeal, between outright fighting and lack of ammunition.

HITLER'S PROBLEM

The distance from northern Denmark to southern Norway isn't great, but it's too far to swim. Troops, guns and explosives have got to be ferried across somehow. And the Allies' war craft, by concentrating on that particular strip of water, perhaps can make this an extremely precarious business, if not an impossibility.

One surmise is that Herr Hitler believes he can do his ferrying by airplane. Many aviators think so, too. Surface land and sea critics think otherwise. They say that flying men over-enthusiastic as to the airplane's possibilities as a troop and ammunition transport. They speak of it as a "valuable arm" of both their services, but contend that it can't transport troops in any appreciable numbers or seriously bother up-to-date fighting vessels. And certainly, insist the surface experts, planes can't deliver supplies in any such quantity as a good-sized army requires.

There's no conclusive answer yet. The question hasn't been tested out long enough.

IF ADOLF LOSES?

Suppose Adolf's Norwegian campaign does fizzle out—how bad a defeat will it be for him? The experts concur that it will be a crushing blow. They point out that Hitler will have sacrificed all the men he sent to the northward and that his navy, if not altogether destroyed, at least will be badly depleted. But more than all that, argues the critics, his prestige at home will be so damaged at home that it may well cost him his fuhrership. Oh, it's true he'll try to hush failure up, and may manage to do it for awhile, through his censorship, but most of the experts say the news will be sure to leak out ultimately.

But won't the Fuhrer be able to offset a disaster in Norway by some brilliant stroke into the Balkans, where he'll need no shipping? And, maybe, might not Russia give him some real help?—also Italy?

The experts generally predict that, if he comes a cropper in Norway, Hitler won't last long enough to start anything in the Balkans, and that Joe Stalin and Benito Mussolini, if they see luck turning against him, will drop him like a hot potato.

However, the "ifs" and "buts" and "ands" are too plentiful to make all this guessing very clarifying.

ADMIRAL TAUSSIG OMITTED DIG

WASHINGTON—Rear Admiral Joseph K. Taussig's remark that "war with Japan is inevitable" wasn't the only bombshell in his sensational speech before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee. There was another that—at the last minute—he didn't fire.

Halfway in his prepared manuscript, immediately following the paragraph warning that the consequences of modern warfare are so far-reaching that the "overthrow of our form of government" is not improbable, was this startling statement: "Our financial structure, none too sound at present on account of the huge public debt, cannot stand such a strain."

Taussig skipped this hot dig at the New Deal when he read his prepared paper, but newsmen didn't know it because no copies of the speech were distributed. A member of the committee, who later happened to glance through the manuscript, discovered the interesting omission scratched out in pencil by Taussig.

Whether the Rear Admiral backed away on the advice of Navy superiors, or because of his own caution, is his secret. Whatever the reason, he passed up the brickbat when he got before the committee.

TOUGH MUG

The ceremony commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Pan-American Union was a swank gathering made up entirely of top-flight officials and diplomats. No one could get in without an engraved invitation. Nevertheless the Secret Service was on hand in numbers, and while the President spoke, they maintained a sharp-eyed watch on the audience.

Especially was this true of a rookie agent who was "covering" Roosevelt for the first time. The zealous youngster spotted a baldish, square-jawed, athletic gentleman in the front row, and after eyeing him suspiciously for a while inquired of an older agent, "Say, who is that tough-looking mug over there?"

"He isn't a mug," grinned his colleague. "He's Justice Stanley Reed of the Supreme Court."

BOUQUETS AND BRICKBATS

In Washington, Representative Graham A. Barden is getting plaudits from anti-administration cronies for putting through his bill axing the Wage-Hour law, but down in his North Carolina district he is fighting for his political life.

His opponent is challenging him squarely on the labor issue—and doing it to music.

The enterprising rival is Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., small-town lawyer who has twice given Barden hot election battles, and whose father held Barden's seat for twelve years. Abernethy's campaign methods are a combination of those made famous by Texas' crooning Governor ("Pass-the-biscuits-pappy") O'Daniel and a movie "bank nifty".

Abernethy doesn't sing himself, but he has a quartet of crooners who do. They furnish the music for a "country store" (Continued on Page Eight)

Stomach Ulcers Heal in Hours

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
DO ULCERS of the stomach ever heal?

They heal so rapidly that hours, rather than days, mark the space of time. This is the information we get from the new specialty of gastroscopy—examination of the stomach with a lighted instrument. The pioneers in this method of examination see the inside of a living stomach under circumstances different from what anybody else has ever seen it. They tell us that they can see an ulcer one day, practically see it forming, and the next day find it has entirely disappeared. But these are acute ulcers, not like the ones that cause chronic indigestion; the chronic ulcer of the stomach may take years to heal.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In 1920 a young physician in Munich, named Schindler, who had been using an old-fashioned gastroscope, which was a rigid metal tube and almost impossibly cruel and torture-making for the patient, devised, with the help of an optician, a flexible tube provided with many lenses at short intervals.

These flexible gastroscopes can be introduced into the stomach without much discomfort.

Making Liver Diet More Palatable

What are the uses of liver diet and is there any advantage in one kind of animal liver over the other?

Liver is used now for a great many conditions, not only for primary anemia but for many forms of anemia due to liver deficiency. It is also good for the skin. One kind of animal liver is just about as good as another.

Of course, liver can be obtained in the form of an extract but it is, in most cases, cheaper and easier to use it as a food. To many people it is not palatable or quickly grows monotonous and for that reason I append a few recipes:

Chicken Liver Soup—One pint of chicken broth; four ounces of chicken livers and hearts; one heaping teaspoonful of flour; one teaspoonful of butter; one teaspoonful of chopped parsley; salt and pepper to taste. Bring the chicken broth to the boiling point. Blend the flour and butter with a little of the broth and add to the broth. Then add the chicken liver which has been cooked for 10 minutes and minced.

Liver and Corn Creole—Two cups of ground liver (parboiled); one can of corn; two tablespoons of chopped red pepper; one cup of milk; two tablespoons of butter. Put the liver, corn, red pepper and milk into a saucepan. Cook slowly for 10 minutes, season with salt and pepper and add the butter. Place the mixture in a baking dish, sprinkle with bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake 10 minutes.

Mock Terrapin—Add to one-half cup of cooked and chopped mushrooms one cup of brown sauce and one-half cup of liver cubes, the liver having previously been parboiled. Season with a dash of mustard, a dash of paprika and one tablespoonful of lemon juice.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

AUTOMATIC SQUEEZES

SOME OF the guadiest-looking plays in the game are dealt into the cards in such a way that you can't help making them. This is especially true of certain squeeze plays, which are automatic in their development when you merely run off the set-up tricks which have been dealt to you. While this goes on, one opponent tries to hold stopping cards in a couple of suits, but finally he is at a stage where he no longer can discard without wrecking his chances in one suit or another.

lem was getting increasingly threatening. He followed suit to the first club trick and three diamonds, discarded clubs on the next two diamonds and, though it hurt, his spade 10 and Q on the next two clubs. He still was holding on to his spade A and his four hearts when the last club was led. Rather than toss away his spade A, he kept it and threw away one of his hearts. The declarer thereupon cashed his heart A and went to the dummy to finish up the hand with four heart tricks, making an unbid grand slam.

If East had thrown away his spade A in order to keep four hearts, the declarer would merely have cashed his spade K and then would have taken three heart tricks, making the grand slam anyway. It was a squeeze play which South could not help making, no matter how he tried.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

HIS EYES bulged. "You!"

"Yes, I killed him."

"He shrank away from me as though his own life were in peril. 'Let me explain!' I pleaded."

"But—but it can't be true! You said you were upstairs. Everyone agreed you were upstairs. Every bit of evidence against you has broken down. My God, man! You're innocent. You're crazy!"

"I have never told a lie about this case," I assured him, "but I left out some facts and let the police jump to conclusions. One of their wrong conclusions was that because Alfred was standing in the garden with his face toward the stars he must have been alive. He wasn't. He was dead before I went upstairs."

Markham drew a revolver from his pocket. "Go on," he said coldly. "Don't expect any mercy from me. He was my brother, you know."

"When he and I went into the garden that night he kept asking me why I didn't leave him alone. I was with him because I was alarmed by his strange moodiness. I thought he might be thinking of suicide in the river. I didn't tell him that. I merely stayed with him. We walked into the rose arbor. He argued, his voice rising. I leaned against the railing, talking quietly, trying to get him to tell me his troubles."

"You can see the railing from here. It's a sort of fence around what once was a croquet court. It's about the height of a man's waist and the top railing is broad and flat. There was a sharp trowel lying on the railing. As I talked I fingered it absent-mindedly."

"That was the death instrument?"

"Yes, that was the trowel that killed him. But you're getting ahead." I swallowed hard and continued. "Alfred seemed to be listening to reason. At last he laughed and said, 'All right, all right. Forget it. Let's go back inside. I'll take a rose to my partner as an excuse for my absence. Lend me your knife to cut it, will you?'"

"I opened up my pocket knife and handed it to him."

"Wicked looking blade," he said. His eyes narrowed. His face became hard and terrible. "Now! Leave me alone!"

The knife was at my throat. Instinctively I swung my hand up to drive him back from me. I did not intend to strike him as hard as I did, but to push him away from me. I forgot that the trowel was in my hand.

"He sagged. My hand seemed to be stuck to him. In horror I let go, and he dropped like a sack out of which every grain of life—had been drained at once."

George Markham was white, speechless. He lowered the gun he was holding.

"He fell to the ground," I went on. "I knew it looked like I had murdered him. No one would believe your brother had attacked me. I could hardly believe it myself."

"I had to get out of the garden before anyone discovered Alfred was dead. I had to make him appear as though he were alive when I left."

"After throwing the trowel in the river I propped the body up against the railing. The legs of the stool, which I set upside down on top of the railing, held the body under the arms and gave it the impression of standing there, especially if the person who saw it was no closer than the clubhouse door. But the head sagged forward, so I propped it up with the broken croquet mallet, under the chin, so that Alfred seemed to be looking at the stars, with his face in the shadow and turned partly away from the clubhouse."

"It was horrible business. I was numb with terror, or I could never have done it."

"An electric wire crossed the court close overhead. I pulled down the south end of it and tied it to the stool. Then I went into the clubhouse, pretending to talk back over my shoulder to Alfred as I met Jerry at the door."

"Of course, Jerry thought your brother was alive. I had a hard time keeping Jerry inside, but he finally turned around and went back to the party. I went upstairs, got hold of the wire through a window and pulled the body across the court until the stool came loose from under the arms, beside the lily pond. I pulled the stool up, untied the wire and threw the stool into the river just as Jerry came out into the court. I was in the bathroom window, out of sight of Calla as he hid in the willows. Both men heard the splash, and Calla saw the stool flying through the air, but it was a mystery to both of them."

"As quick as I could I coiled the wire and threw it after the stool. It made the hissing sound that Jerry described to the police."

"My alibi worked, even better than I had hoped for. Everyone believed I could not possibly have killed Alfred."

"It seemed that the police would eventually have to give up the case as unsolved, but when they arrested Jerry, that way out disappeared. I believed that to save him I might have to confess. To save myself, if I confessed, I must be able to explain Alfred's attack on me."

"I found the explanation of that attack. He was half-crazed by being deprived of his drug. He thought I knew his secret—although I really didn't at that time. He believed that besides spoiling his meeting with Calla I was going to tell his friends about his drug addiction."

George Markham still held the gun. He had not entirely relaxed. "Jerry was freed this morning," he said. "It was no longer necessary for you to make this confession. Why are you doing it?"

"Because I am not a criminal. The police might eventually forget the killing of your brother and give up the hunt for the slayer, but I could never forget. Every time I discovered a weak place in my alibi—every time I remembered that someone on the river may have seen me stab him—I would be fearful. That wouldn't be the worst. I could overcome fear, but I couldn't go on living a lie. I had no right—could never have any right—even to talk with your sister unless you knew the truth, and understood, and would let me talk with her. That was what decided me—looking at her picture and knowing that I loved her."

"So! And you confessed to clear your mind?"

"No—I can't clear my mind. But it is a great relief to know that I do not carry my awful secret alone."

He was looking at me as though he would have liked to read my soul. "I can't understand you. You had everyone fooled. Now you deliberately destroy that almost perfect alibi."

"Do you doubt me?"

"I—I must be sure. There is always the chance, Bill, that you knew that your alibi was breaking down—that you cooked up this story about Alfred's attack on you so I would come to your defense."

"I'm sorry. I thought you would believe me." I turned dejectedly away. "If you think I am a murderer I will give myself up—and say nothing about the drugs."

For a moment there was no sound behind me. "I'll come back after sundown with my answer," George said. His shoes crunched on the gravel as he started for the clubhouse. Then the door clicked shut behind him.

One surmise is that Herr Hitler believes he can do his ferrying by airplane. Many aviators think so, too.

Surface land and sea critics think otherwise. They say that flying men over-enthusiastic as to the airplane's possibilities as a troop and ammunition transport. They speak of it as a "valuable arm" of both their services, but contend that it can't transport troops in any appreciable numbers or seriously bother up-to-date fighting vessels. And certainly, insist the surface experts, planes can't deliver supplies in any such quantity as a good-sized army requires.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

ADMIRAL TAUSSIG OMITTED DIG

WASHINGTON—Rear Admiral Joseph K. Taussig's remark that "war with Japan is inevitable" wasn't the only bombshell in his sensational speech before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee. There was another that—at the last minute—he didn't fire.

Halfway in his prepared manuscript, immediately following the paragraph warning that the consequences of modern warfare are so far-reaching that the "overthrow of our form of government" is not improbable, was this startling statement:

"Our financial structure, none too sound at present on account of the huge public debt, cannot stand such a strain."

Taussig skipped this hot dig at the New Deal when he read his prepared paper, but newsmen didn't know it because no copies of the speech were distributed. A member of the committee, who later happened to glance through the manuscript, discovered the interesting omission scratched out in pencil by Taussig.

Whether the Rear Admiral backed away on the advice of Navy superiors, or because of his own caution, is his secret. Whatever the reason, he passed up the brickbat when he got before the committee.

TOUGH MUG

The ceremony commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Pan-American Union was a swank gathering made up entirely of top-flight officials and diplomats. No one could get in without an engraved invitation. Nevertheless the Secret Service was on hand in numbers, and while the President spoke, they maintained a sharp-eyed watch on the audience.

Especially was this true of a rookie agent who was "covering" Roosevelt for the first time. The zealous youngster spotted a baldish, square-jawed, athletic gentleman in the front row, and after eyeing him suspiciously for a while inquired of an older agent, "Say, who is that tough-looking mug over there?"

"He isn't a mug," grinned his colleague. "He's Justice Stanley Reed of the Supreme Court."

BOUQUETS AND BRICKBATS

In Washington, Representative Graham A. Barden is getting laudits from anti-Administration cronies for putting through his bill axing the Wage-Hour law, but down in his North Carolina district he is fighting for his political life.

His opponent is challenging him squarely on the labor issue—and doing it to music.

The enterprising rival is Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., small-town lawyer who has twice given Barden hot election battles, and whose father held Barden's seat for twelve years. Abernethy's campaign methods are a combination of those made famous by Texas' crooning Governor ("Pass-the-biscuits-pappy") O'Daniel and a movie "bank night".

Abernethy doesn't sing himself, but he has a quartet of crooners who do. They furnish the music for a "country store" (Continued on Page Eight)

DIET AND HEALTH

Stomach Ulcers Heal in Hours

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

DO ULCERS of the stomach ever heal?

They heal so rapidly that hours, rather than days, mark the space of time. This is the information we get from the new specialty of gastroscopy—examination of the stomach with a lighted instrument.

The pioneers in this method of examination see the inside of a living stomach under circumstances different from what anybody else has ever seen it. They tell us that they can see an ulcer one day, practically see it forming, and the next day find it has entirely disappeared. But these are acute ulcers, not like the ones that cause chronic indigestion; the chronic ulcer of the stomach may take years to heal.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In 1920 a young physician in Munich, named Schindler, who had been using an old-fashioned gastroscope, which was a rigid metal tube and almost impossibly cruel and torture-making for the patient, devised, with the help of an optician, a flexible tube provided with many lenses at short intervals.

These flexible gastroscopes can be introduced into the stomach without much discomfort.

Making Liver Diet More Palatable

What are the uses of liver diet and is there any advantage in one kind of animal liver over the other?

Liver is used now for a great many conditions, not only for primary anemia but for many forms of anemia due to liver deficiency. It is also good for the skin. One kind of animal liver is just about as good as another.

Of course, liver can be obtained in the form of an extract but it is, in most cases, cheaper and easier to use it as a food. To many people it is not palatable or quickly grows monotonous and for that reason I append a few recipes:

Chicken Liver Soup—One pint of chicken broth; four ounces of chicken livers and hearts; one heaping teaspoonful of flour; one teaspoonful of butter; one teaspoonful of chopped parsley; salt and pepper to taste. Bring the chicken broth to the boiling point. Blend the flour and butter with a little of the broth and add to the broth. Then add the chicken liver which has been cooked for 10 minutes and minced.

Liver and Corn Creole—Two cups of ground liver (parboiled); one can of corn; two tablespoons of chopped red pepper; one cup of milk; two tablespoons of butter. Put the liver, corn, red pepper and milk in a saucepan. Cook slowly for 10 minutes, season with salt and pepper and add the butter. Place the mixture in a baking dish, sprinkle with bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake 10 minutes.

Mock Terrapin—Add to one-half cup of cooked and chopped mushrooms one cup of brown sauce and one-half cup of liver cubes, the liver having previously been parboiled. Season with a dash of mustard, a dash of paprika and one tablespoonful of lemon juice.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

AUTOMATIC SQUEEZES
SOME of the quadiest-looking plays in the game are dealt into the cards in such a way that you can't help making them. This is especially true of certain squeeze plays, which are automatic in their development when you merely run off the set-up tricks which have been dealt to you. While this goes on, one opponent tries to hold stopping cards in a couple of suits, but finally he is at a stage where he no longer can discard without wrecking his chances in one suit, or another.

West led his club 5 to the K, whereupon the declarer ran off five tricks in diamonds and three more clubs. As he played the last, he left himself three hearts and his spade K, and four hearts in the dummy.

During this time, East's problem was to find a way to win the trick. For 150 years after 1694 in England a house was taxed according to the number of windows it had, so people dodged the tax by putting in fewer and fewer windows in their houses.

Now that he has just celebrated his 51st birthday, we'll bet Hitler believes that's the age at which strife—not life—begins.

lem was getting increasingly threatening. He followed suit to the first club trick and three diamonds, discarded clubs on the next two diamonds and, though it hurt, his spade 10 and Q on the next two clubs. He still was holding on to his spade A and his four hearts when the last club was led. Rather than toss away his spade A, he kept it and threw away one of his hearts. The declarer thereupon cashed his heart A and went to the dummy to finish up the hand with four heart tricks, making an unbid grand slam.

If East had thrown away his spade A in order to keep four hearts, the declarer would merely have cashed his spade K and then would have taken three heart tricks, making the grand slam anyway. It was a squeeze play which South could not help making, no matter how he tried.

What is the soundest bidding of this deal?

Don't laugh at those political prophets who said in 1936 that the Republican party was dead. Another group of predictors made the same mistake about the Democrats in 1928.

Like many individuals at this time of the year, it appears that Germany needs more iron in her system.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN
HIS EYES bulged. "You!"

"Yes, I killed him."

He shrank away from me as though his own life were in peril. "Let me explain!" I pleaded.

"But—but it can't be true! You said you were upstairs. Everyone agreed you were upstairs. Every bit of evidence against you has broken down. My God, man! You're innocent. You're crazy!"

"I have never told a lie about this case," I assured him, "but I left out some facts and let the police jump to conclusions. One of their wrong conclusions was that because Alfred was standing in the garden with his face toward the stars he must have been alive. He wasn't. He had died before I went upstairs."

Markham drew a revolver from his pocket. "Go on," he said coldly. "Don't expect any mercy from me. He was my brother, you know."

"When he and I went into the garden that night he kept asking me why I didn't leave him alone. I was with him because I was alarmed by his strange moodiness. I thought he might be thinking of suicide in the river. I didn't tell him that. I merely stayed with him. We walked into the rose arbor. He argued, his voice rising. I leaned against the railing, talking quietly, trying to get him to tell me his troubles."

"You can see the railing from here. It's a sort of fence around what once was a croquet court. It's about the height of a man's waist and the top railing is broad and flat. There was a sharp trowel lying on the railing. As I talked I fingered it absent-mindedly."

"That was the death instrument."

"Yes, that was the trowel that killed him. But you're getting ahead." I swallowed hard and continued. "Alfred seemed to be listening to reason. At last he laughed and said, 'All right, all right. Forget it. Let's go back inside. I'll take a rose to my partner as an excuse for my absence. Lend me your knife to cut it, will you?'"

"I opened up my pocket knife and handed it to him."

"'Wicked looking blade,' he said. His eyes narrowed. His face became hard and terrible. 'Now! Leave me alone!'"

The knife was at my throat. Instinctively I swung my hand up to drive him back from me. I did not intend to strike him as hard as I did, but to push him away from me. I forgot that the trowel was in my hand.

"He sagged. My hand seemed to be stuck to him. In horror I let go, and he dropped like a sack out of which everything—all the life—had been drained at once."

George Markham was white, speechless. He lowered the gun he was holding.

"He fell to the ground," I went on. "I knew it looked like I had murdered him. No one would believe your brother had attacked me. I could hardly believe it myself."

"I had to get out of the garden before anyone discovered Alfred was dead. I had to make him appear as though he were alive when I left."

"After throwing the trowel in the river I propped the body up against the railing. The legs of the stool, which I set upside down on top of the railing, held the body under the arms and gave it the impression of standing there, especially if the person who saw it was no closer than the clubhouse door. But the head sagged forward, so I propped it up with the broken croquet mallet, under the chin, so that Alfred seemed to be looking at the stars, with his face in the shadow and turned partly away from the clubhouse."

"An electric wire crossed the court close overhead. I pulled down the south end of it and tied it to the stool. Then I went into the clubhouse, pretending to talk back over my shoulder to Alfred as I met Jerry at the door."

"Of course, Jerry thought your brother was alive. I had a hard time keeping Jerry inside, but he finally turned around and went back to the party. I went upstairs, got hold of the wire through a window and pulled the body across the court until the stool came loose from under the arms, beside the lily pond. I pulled the stool up, untied the wire and threw the stool into the river just as Jerry came out into the court. I was in the bathroom window, out of sight of Calla as he hid in the willows. Both men heard the splash, and Calla saw the stool flying through the air, but it was a mystery to both of them."

"As quickly as I could I coiled the wire and threw it after the stool. It made the hissing sound that Jerry described to the police. 'My alibi worked, even better than I had hoped for. Everyone believed I could not possibly have killed Alfred.'"

"It seemed that the police would eventually have to give up the case as unsolved, but when they arrested Jerry, that way out disappeared. I believed that to save him I might have to confess. To save myself, if I confessed, I must be able to explain Alfred's attack on me."

"I found the explanation of that attack. He was half-crazed by being deprived of his drug. He thought I knew his secret—although I really didn't at that time. He believed that besides spoiling his meeting with Calla I was going to tell his friends about his drug addiction."

"Jerry was freed this morning," he said. "It was no longer necessary for you to make this confession. Why are you doing it?"

"Because I am not a criminal. The police might eventually forget the killing of your brother and give up the hunt for the slayer, but I could never forget. Every time I discovered a weak place in my alibi—every time I remembered that someone on the river may have seen me stab him—I would be fearful. That wouldn't be the worst. I could overcome fear, but I couldn't go on living a lie. I had no right—could never have any right—even to talk with your sister unless you knew the truth, and understood, and would let me talk with her. That was what decided me—looking at her picture and knowing that I loved her."

"So—! And you confessed to clear your mind?"

"No—I can't clear my mind. But it is a great relief to know that I do not carry my awful secret alone."

He was looking at me as though he would have liked to read my soul. "I can't understand you. You had everyone fooled. Now you deliberately destroy that almost perfect alibi."

"Do you doubt me?"

"I—I must be sure. There is always the chance, Bill, that you knew that your alibi was breaking down—that you cooked up this story about Alfred's attack on you so I would come to your defense."

"I'm sorry. I thought you would believe me. I turned dejectedly away. 'If you think I am a murderer I will give myself up—and say nothing about the drugs.' For a moment there was no sound behind me. 'I'll come back after sundown with my answer,' George said. His shoes crunched on the gravel as he started for the clubhouse. Then the door clicked shut behind him."

League Making Plans For Its Benefit Fete

Committees Listed For Conservation Function

Mrs. Luther Bower, general chairman, and members of her various committees have completed the plans for the benefit bridge party of the Child Conservation League which will be Thursday, May 9, in the lodge room of the Elks Club. The party will be in the afternoon with the games starting at 2 p. m.

The proceeds of the affair will be used by the club in its charitable work for the needy children of the community.

Mrs. G. D. Phillips, president of the club, will head the hostess committee comprised of Mrs. Ted Huston, Mrs. John H. Dunlap, Jr., and Mrs. R. C. McAllister.

The general committee includes Mrs. Bower, Mrs. F. K. Blair, Mrs. Tom Renick and Mrs. Phillips.

Mrs. Joe Adkins, Jr., Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. Karl Mason will look after the publicity for the affair, the ticket sales being in charge of Mrs. Sterling Lamb, Mrs. Paul D. Miller, Mrs. Robert Musser and Mrs. Lemuel Weldon.

Arrangements for prizes will be made by Mrs. Bishop Given, Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey and Mrs. Glen Geib.

Mrs. James I. Smith, Jr., heads the refreshment committee comprised of Mrs. John W. Eshelman, Mrs. Ray Reid and Mrs. Ben Gordon.

Mrs. Emmett Crist, assisted by Mrs. Ray Rowland, Mrs. Don Walker and Mrs. Paul Tegardine, will arrange the decorations for the party.

The tallies and other party appointments will be looked after by Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson and Mrs. Ralph Wallace. Mrs. Franklin Price will be in charge of the check room.

Mrs. J. E. Grooin and Mrs. Harry Heffner will arrange the tables.

Several prizes will be awarded for high scores both in contract and auction bridge games. The club plans also to have an interesting door prize.

Mrs. Pettit Entertains
Mrs. Guy Pettit of South Court Street was hostess to her bridge club Tuesday, entertaining her guests at the Wardell party home.

Mrs. V. R. Hill of South Pickaway Street joined the group for the evening.

Contract bridge was played during the party with Mrs. Joe Goeller and Mrs. Robert Rader taking the prizes for scores.

Refreshments served at the small tables concluded the affair.

In addition to those mentioned the players included Mrs. Russell Evans, Mrs. Leo McClure, Miss Rose Good and Miss Frances Barnes.

Mrs. Evans will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Geib Hostess
Mrs. Luther Bower and Mrs. W. A. Thomas were invited for the evening when Mrs. Glen Geib of East High Street was hostess to the members of her bridge club Tuesday.

Prizes in the games of contract bridge were awarded Mrs. Joe Burns and Mrs. Bower. Lunch was served during the social hour.

Mrs. Sterling Lamb invited the club to meet with her for the next session.

Mrs. Roll will entertain the group when it meets May 29.

Girl Scouts Meet
Girl Scout Troop No. 4 met Tuesday at Memorial Hall with Miss Mariel Sayre, troop leader, in charge.

The meeting opened with group singing and a grand march. The business meeting followed. The members of the group discussed hikes for the summer and also plans for Music Observation week. After the business meeting, the troop made May Baskets for May Day, as is the annual custom.

The meeting ended with folk dancing and the usual closing ceremony.

Williamsport Dinner Club
Red roses centered the six tables where dinner was served at 7 p. m. when Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Baker of Wilmington entertained the dinner-bridge club of Williamsport Tuesday at the Wardell party home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bailey, also of Wilmington, were guests for the evening.

Mrs. Sam B. Metzger and Russell McDill won high score prizes. Mrs. Lee Luelien and Edward Anderson, low, when tallies were added after the evening of contract bridge.

Club members playing were Mr. and Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker, Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowers, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. McDill, Frankfort; Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Luelien, Mr. and Mrs. White Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. George LeMay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowers will entertain the club May 29.

Mrs. Barnhart Hostess
Branches of Japonica and other colorful spring blossoms made an attractive setting for the informal dessert-bridge when Mrs. Emmett W. Barnhart of Northridge Road entertained Tuesday.

The dessert course was served at 2 p. m., the guests enjoying contract bridge during the afternoon.

Mrs. Ervin Leist and Mrs. R. C. McAllister carried home the prizes for scores.

The other guests were Mrs. E. L. Montgomery, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Virgil M. Cress, Mrs. W. A. Thomas and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter of Circleville and Mrs. Robert Terhune of Clarksburg.

Salsereek Valley Grange
Salsereek Valley Grange will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Salsereek Township school.

Henry Aldrich's Play Selected By Seniors

"What a Life", by Clifford Goldsmith, has been selected by the Senior class of Circleville High School for presentation May 9 and 10 in the school auditorium.

The play concerns the activities of Henry Aldrich of the radio series and other characters of this program. Mr. Goldsmith, who writes the sequences for the radio program wrote the play which has just been released for amateur production. It ran on Broadway for well over a year.

In the principal's office of Central High School (it might be any school in the country), is unfolded a sort of quick-motion pageant of the color and movement of a typical school day. Though the plot is clearly outlined, the play is full, from beginning to end, of those intimate and telling details that will be recognized by everyone.

Henry Aldrich, who might be a junior in any high school, is shown as a youth who just can't memorize the dates in Roman history, who tries to sell anything he owns in order to raise two dollars to take his girl to the Spring Dance, and who finally in desperation "borrows" answers for use in his examination, only to be found out in the end. The other characters are Barbara Pearson, who portrays a girl who is gloriously happy and desperately unhappy over the prospect of her first formal dance; George Bigelow, Henry's enemy, who almost gets him into serious trouble; several teachers, including Miss Pike, Miss Johnson and Miss Wheeler, with their worries about Easter vacation, the heating plant that doesn't work, and no towels in the washroom; Mr. Nelson, the assistant principal, who in the end straightens out Henry's problem and sets him on the right path; with not least in interest Henry's mother, who insists that the boy go to Princeton, though his real talent is for drawing and not for winning Phi Beta Kappa keys.

These are some of the intensely human ingredients in a play which further treats the universal problem of adjustment in the lives of most boys and girls.

Henry just cannot get through his head the book learning that he is supposed to absorb, and this is what involves him in scrapes both serious and amusing, that on one occasion make it look as though he had actually stolen the school band instruments, to the consternation of the distracted music teacher, with the help of an amusing detective, finally discovers that the instruments have been pawned by Bigelow, who tried to throw the blame on Henry, Henry, of course, ends up by going to the dance and all is well.

Under the direction of Samuel Johnson, dramatics coach of the high school, the play is shaping up in excellent style in its last week of rehearsal.

League Making Plans For Its Benefit Fete

Committees Listed For Conservation Function

Mrs. Luther Bower, general chairman, and members of her various committees have completed the plans for the benefit bridge party of the Child Conservation League which will be Thursday, May 9, in the lodge room of the Elks Club. The party will be in the afternoon with the games starting at 2 p. m.

The proceeds of the affair will be used by the club in its charitable work for the needy children of the community.

Mrs. G. D. Phillips, president of the club, will head the hostess committee comprised of Mrs. Ted Huston, Mrs. John H. Dunlap, Jr., and Mrs. R. C. McAllister.

The general committee includes Mrs. Bower, Mrs. F. K. Blair, Mrs. Tom Renick and Mrs. Phillips.

Mrs. Joe Adkins, Jr., Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. Karl Mason will look after the publicity for the affair, the ticket sales being in charge of Mrs. Sterling Lamb, Mrs. Paul D. Miller, Mrs. Robert Musser and Mrs. Lemuel Weldon.

Arrangements for prizes will be made by Mrs. Bishop Given, Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey and Mrs. Glen Geib.

Mrs. James I. Smith, Jr., heads the refreshment committee comprised of Mrs. John W. Eshelman, Mrs. Ray Reid and Mrs. Ben Gordon.

Mrs. Emmett Crist, assisted by Mrs. Ray Rowland, Mrs. Don Walker and Mrs. Paul Teegardin, will arrange the decorations for the party.

The tallies and other party appointments will be looked after by Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson and Mrs. Ralph Wallace. Mrs. Franklin Price will be in charge of the check room.

Mrs. J. E. Groom and Mrs. Harry Heffner will arrange the tables.

Several prizes will be awarded for high scores both in contract and auction bridge games. The club plans also to have an interesting door prize.

Mrs. Pettit Entertains

Mrs. Guy Pettit of South Court Street was hostess to her bridge club Tuesday, entertaining her guests at the Wardell party home.

Mrs. V. R. Hill of South Pickaway Street joined the group for the evening.

Contract bridge was played during the party with Mrs. Joe Goller and Mrs. Robert Rader taking the prizes for scores.

Refreshments served at the small tables concluded the affair.

In addition to those mentioned the players included Mrs. Russell Evans, Mrs. Leo McClure, Miss Rose Good and Miss Frances Barnes.

Mrs. Evans will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Geib Hostess

Mrs. Luther Bower and Mrs. W. A. Thomas were invited for the evening when Mrs. Glen Geib of East High Street was hostess to the members of her bridge club Tuesday.

Prizes in the games of contract bridge were awarded Mrs. Joe Burns and Mrs. Bower. Lunch was served during the social hour.

Mrs. Sterling Lamb invited the club to meet with her for the next session.

Pleasant View Aid

Twenty-six members and guests were present Tuesday when Miss Mary Porter of Saltcreek Township entertained the Pleasant View Ladies' Aid Society.

Mrs. E. C. Aldenderfer, president, led the devotionals and conducted the brief business session which followed.

The interesting program included readings by Mrs. L. M. Price, Saltcreek Valley Grange will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Saltcreek Township school.

Henry Aldrich's Play Selected By Seniors

"What a Life," by Clifford Goldsmith, has been selected by the Senior class of Circleville High School for presentation May 9 and 10 in the school auditorium.

The play concerns the activities of Henry Aldrich of the radio series and other characters of this program. Mr. Goldsmith, who writes the sequences for the radio program wrote the play which has just been released for amateur production. It ran on Broadway for well over a year.

In the principal's office of Central High School (it might be a junior in any high school, is shown as a youth who just can't memorize the dates in Roman history, who tries to sell anything he owns in order to raise two dollars to take his girl to the Spring Dance, and who finally in desperation "borrows" answers for use in his examination, only to be found out in the end. The other characters are Barbara Pearson, who portrays a girl who is gloriously happy and desperately unhappy over the prospect of her first formal dance; George Bigelow, Henry's enemy, who almost gets him into serious trouble; several teachers, including Miss Pike, Miss Johnson and Miss Wheeler, with their worries about Easter vacation, the heating plant that doesn't work, and no towels in the washroom; Mr. Nelson, the assistant principal, who in the end straightens out Henry's problem and sets him on the right path; with not least in interest Henry's mother, who insists that the boy go to Princeton, though his real talent is for drawing and not for winning Phi Beta Kappa keys.

These are some of the intensely human ingredients in a play which further treats the universal problem of adjustment in the lives of most boys and girls.

Henry just cannot get through his head the book learning that he is supposed to absorb, and this is what involves him in scrapes both serious and amusing, that on one occasion make it look as though he had actually stolen the school band instruments, to the consternation of the distracted music teacher, with the help of an amusing detective, finally discovers that the instruments have been pawned by Bigelow, who tried to throw the blame on Henry, Henry, of course, ends up by going to the dance and all is well.

Under the direction of Samuel Johnson, dramatics coach of the high school, the play is shaping up in excellent style in its last week of rehearsal.

Mrs. James Pierce, Miss Evelyn Pierce and Miss Roselyn Dreisbach of Pickaway Township were Tuesday shoppers in Circleville.

Mrs. and Mrs. Price Ashbrook of Yellowbud were business visitors in Circleville, Tuesday.

stunt that is packing them into his meetings in droves.

It consists of a free raffle of sacks of flour which Abernethy carries around from town to town.
Everyone who attends his meetings is given a ticket with a number. After a program of songs and a speech by Abernethy, a large baking powder can is placed on the platform and numbers picked from it by a blind-folded youngster. To each winner Abernethy presents a big sack of flour, accompanied by this hot jab
at Barden:

"He is taking bread out of the mouths of working people by his bill which would put them back on a ten-cents an hour wage basis.
I'm putting the bread back in the mouths of these poor folks."

CROONING GOVERNORS

It looks as if Texas is sure to have another crooning Governor in the Executive Mansion, no matter what happens. There are a lot of candidates contending for the seat of W. Lee O'Daniel, and one of them is the colorful clowning Jerry Sadler, Texas Railroad Commissioner.

At the last election, O'Daniel was brash enough to urge Texas to vote against Sadler, so now
Jerry has hired himself a swing band and is out to outcroon O'Daniel for the governorship.

Jerry Sadler's brother runs the Harvey Sadler tent shows, so that Jerry comes by his political grand-standing honestly. His hill-billy swingsters now rival O'Daniel's family radio act, especially since Texas radio stations are now trying to turn thumbs down on O'Daniel.

However, while most of the radio stations plus the vast majority of the newspapers in the Lone Star
State are dead against Texas' crooning Governor, it looks as if he is sure to be re-elected.

Reason is that he still has the old folks with him, and also the big oil companies. The oldsters, to whom he once promised liberal pensions, are convinced that O'Daniel was blocked by a hostile legislature, while the oil companies have found O'Daniel one of the most cooperative Governors in years. In fact, he has come to be known as the rich man's friend elected by the poor people.

Before handsome, white-maned
Paul McNutt embarked on his campaign tour he had a very trying encounter with the Senate Appropriations Committee, which asked him to explain how come there are 120 lawyers on his Federal Security Administration staff.

Senator Kenneth McKellar, veteran Tennessean, read off a list of seven, eight and nine thousand dollar salaries received by these attorneys, and then inquired,
"What on earth do they all do?"

"Interpret the law," replied Mc-Nutt.

"Do they all work at this all the time?"

"Oh, yes."

"When do you think they'll begin winding up this interpreting sufficiently so you can start letting some of them out?"

"We don't intend to let any of them out. We want to add three more."

"Three more?" cried McKellar.

"What for?"

"To interpret the law."

"How long will it take before the law is interpreted?"

McNutt gave up. "I'll let the chief counsel explain that," he said, turning to Chief Counsel Harper Fowler, who revealed that in addition to its corps of 120 attorneys in Washington, the FSA also has staffs of lawyers in most of its state branch offices.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Three Senators are in the running for keynoter at the Democratic convention — Barkley of Kentucky, Byrnes of South Carolina, and Lee of Oklahoma. Barkley keynoted at the 1936 convention, but because he is a "favorite son" candidate, he may be passed over for someone else. One of the delegates chosen by Iowa Republicans is Mrs. Norma Haugon
Johnson, daughter of Gilbert Haugon, for years chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and co-author of the famous McNary-Haugon farm bill twice vetoed by Coolidge, once by Hoover. Maybe the wish is father to the thought, but a recent issue of "The Republican" features a story on dark horse candidates who have won in the past. There were five of them: two Democrats, James K.
Polk and Franklin Pierce; and three Republicans, Rutherford B.
Hayes, James A. Garfield and Warren G. Harding. Politics are taking with a large grain of salt
the disclaimer put out by a "spokesman" of Senator Burton Wheeler that he would not accept second place on the Democratic ticket.

The boys say that not only would the Montanian jump at the chance but that the real object of his hit-and run campaign is to land the vice presidency.

TIP TO RADIO COMICS

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — Radio comics take note! Radio audiences have a level of intelligence much higher than they are usually rated, according to a University of California school of education survey. The average score of 2,331 radio-attentive persons tested by Dr. Frank N. Freeman, dean of the school, was scored at 29—compared to the average man in the street of 24 points. According to the standard intelligence quotient gauge, the radio audience scored 110 to the normal average of 100, Freeman said.

Total of Rain In April Goes To 8.9 Inches

Recording For 1940 Doubles Mark Set Year Ago; Rip-Rapping To Be Needed On Route 22, Damaged By Flood

A near all-time record for rain was recorded during April when 8.9 inches fell in Circleville, the total being more than twice the amount that was recorded on the government gauge last year. The April, 1939, total was 4.33 inches, that amount being about an inch above normal.

Whether the April, 1940, mark is an all-time record for the month is uncertain, although local records show no month in recent years providing that much moisture.

The heaviest rain in a 24 hour period was April 20 when 3.8 inches fell to send the Scioto River far out of its bank and numerous county streams to high marks for the year.

Rain that measured only .1 of an inch fell Tuesday night and early Wednesday to give May a fair start. The rain was very welcome to farmers who have not completed their spring work.

The state highway department has not yet started to repair Route 22 immediately west of Circleville where flood waters caused much damage to fill. Department employees said that damage may be between $4,000 and $5,000 and that ripping will probably be attempted to better protect the highway from water. The new structure stood up splendidly during the flood, road employees declared, but high wind that beat waves onto the dirt section immediately west of the bridge caused much damage. It was feared for a while that the roadway might be undermined.

OHIO WOMAN PENS LAST NOTES, THEN COLLAPSES

CINCINNATI, May 1—A woman who registered at a downtown hotel as Mrs. J. F. Peck, of Coshocton, O., was placed under observation today after she wrote a farewell note and collapsed apparently before she could end her life. Hotel employees entered her room through a transom when they heard moans. They found Mrs. Peck in a semi-conscious condition with a farewell note nearby. No sign of poison or other means of ending her life were found in the room.

A DAY of rich return for industry, fidelity and sound judgment is forecast from the prevailing lunar aspects. The mind will be alert, astute and keen for novelty, innovation and fresh methods of handling old and perhaps static situations with surprising success. The keyed-up faculties are sustained by solid, profound and dependable intuitions, which will combine to give stability and purpose to both old and new affairs, and perhaps increase the possessions. It is time for digging in for enduring foundations.

Those whose birthday it is should find themselves launched in a year in which much stability and reality may be attained in the fortunes and the affairs. While the mental forces are alert, brilliant and even spectacular, with reliable flashes of intuition or sharp vision, these are sustained by sound logic and good judgment. In the long run there should be definite achievement and lasting success. Property and investments should meet stable values.

A child born on this day, while having a keen, sagacious and sparkling intellect, with deep intuitions and vivid imagination, with trends toward the creative and experimental, may also have sterling and dependable qualities to insure recognition and lasting accomplishment.

Three cut policeman's neck, but he jails them

CINCINNATI, May 1—Three men were held by Cincinnati police for investigation today after they were subdued and arrested by Patrolman Albert Dressing, 25, although he had suffered an inch-and-a-half cut on his neck.

Dressing ordered the men from a rooming house, after the proprietor had complained to police. When they reached the sidewalk in front of the house, Dressing said the men attacked him, one of them slashing him with a knife.

The patrolman was treated at a hospital and released. Two of the men also required hospital attention. The trio gave their names as Earl King, 34; Albert King, 26, and Arvell Nickell, 29.

90 BRITISHERS HURT AS NAZI BOMBER FALLS

Craft Crashes In Resort Town Causing Damage Of Many Thousands

FOUR GERMANS VICTIMS

Load Of Mines Explodes, Awakening Residents For Many Miles

LONDON, May 1—Five persons, including four German air-men, were killed and 90 were injured when a German bomber crashed last night at Clacton on the Essex Coast, the home security ministry announced today.

The German aircraft, a Heinkel bomber, fell in flames, setting fire to homes near the spot where it crashed. Fifty houses were damaged. An official communique stated:

"The number of casualties caused by the fall of an enemy aircraft at Clacton is now reported to be five killed and 90 wounded, of whom 49 were admitted to hospitals.

"It is possible there may be other bodies under the wreckage. Of the five bodies so far recovered, four were Germans. About 50 houses were damaged."

The damages were estimated unofficially at about $500,000. An earlier communique said the plane crashed after British anti-aircraft guns went into action against enemy planes which approached the east coast of England at several points.

Many of the injured were rushed to two hospitals at Clacton, while others were taken to hotels lining the seashore.

Blackout Halts Reserve

After the plane crashed into the town with terrific force, awakened residents over a wide distance as its load of mines exploded, rescue efforts were launched immediately but were hampered by the blackout.

Just before crashing the bomber dropped a very light, evidently seeking a landing place. A second German plane at that time was flying directly behind the descending bomber.

Some houses in the vicinity were demolished by the explosion that followed the crash. Fires blazed amid the wreckage.

AID SPEEDS TO SIDE OF VESSEL BEING GROUNDED

NEW YORK, May 1—The British steamer Matakana early today sent an SOS saying she had run aground on Mayaguana Island, 150 miles north of Haiti.

According to Mackay Radio in New York, where the distress call was intercepted, two American steamers, the Borinquen and Santa Maria, are near the location and are in contact with the distressed vessel. The Santa Maria was 250 miles away at 2:30 a. m. and was steaming toward Mayaguana Island.

The Matakana is a vessel of 8,048 tons owned by A. Stephen & Sons of Glasgow. She is 477 feet long, and was built in 1921.

MOVE TO STOP BALLOT ON RATE ORDINANCE IN COURT

COLUMBUS, May 1—A suit to enjoin submission of the compromise Columbus gas rate ordinance, approved by city council, to voters at the May 14 primary had been filed in Common Pleas court today.

The action was brought by City Attorney John L. Davies, who said he filed it at the request of William L. Schmidt, attorney and taxpayer. The application for a temporary injunction to restrain the board of elections from putting the issue on the ballot will be heard at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Main argument of the suit was that it was being submitted to voters only 18 days after its passage. The compromise calls for an average 58.69-cent rate for four years and the refunding to consumers of $1,500,000 in impounded money.

With a northern front as well as a western one, the European war has again become a double feature.

rescue squads, police and fire brigades rushed to the scene and the area was cordoned off immediately. Soldiers also turned out to aid the rescue workers.

In addition there was considerable aerial activity over the Humber Region during the night.

Three unidentified planes flew low over the seaford shortly before 9 p. m. and later heavy gunfire was heard at sea.

Anti-aircraft guns also went into action along the northeast coast.

Two heavy explosions were heard off the Yorkshire Coast followed by bursts of machine-gun fire and airplanes were heard overhead. It was believed that ships off the coast were being attacked.

Million Reward Put Up For Arrest of Hitler

NEW YORK, May 1—There is a reward of $1,000,000 waiting today for anybody who delivers Adolf Hitler "alive, unwounded and unhurt" into the custody of the League of Nations.

This offer was made in behalf of a number of Pittsburgh residents by Samuel H. Church, president of the Carnegie Institute, in a letter to the New York Times. The letter stated:

"In order to prevent further bloodshed and outrage in this war of German aggression, I am authorized by competent Americans to offer a reward of $1,000,000 to be paid in cash to the person or persons who will deliver Adolf Hitler, alive, unwounded and unhurt, into the custody of the League of Nations, for trial before a high court of justice for his crimes against the peace and dignity of the world. This proposal will stand good through the month of May, 1940."

Church was quoted as saying that the group offering the reward was "not over-optimistic" about its chances of achieving its end, but that they do think that even a slim possibility is worth encouraging on the ground that capture of Hitler would avert untold suffering. Limitation of the reward offer to the month of May was for the purpose of making sure, Church said, "that seekers after the reward will act quickly."

About fifty persons, some of them women, are in the group offering the reward, Church said. The question of offering such a reward has been under discussion by a group of members of the Duquesne Club "for two or three months," he declared.

Church said the reward was offered in the hope of appealing to youthful adventurers. There is no expectation, he said, that it will give rise to any anti-Hitler attempt within the Reich.

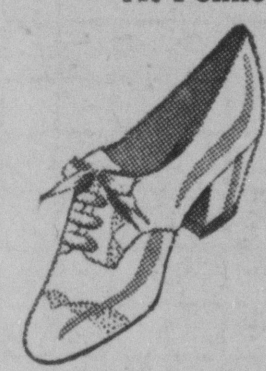

ESTATE LETTERS ISSUED

In the estate of William E. Fuller, Route 4, Circleville, letters of administration have been issued Ada B. Aldenderfer. The $6,000 estate will be inherited by his two sons N. O. Aldenderfer and E. C. Aldenderfer, and a daughter Stella Butterbaugh.

AID SPEEDS TO SIDE OF VESSEL BEING GROUNDED

NEW YORK, May 1—The British steamer Matakana early today sent an SOS saying she had run aground on Mayaguana Island, 150 miles north of Haiti.

According to Mackay Radio in New York, where the distress call was intercepted, two American steamers, the Borinquen and Santa Maria, are near the location and are in contact with the distressed vessel. The Santa Maria was 250 miles away at 2:30 a. m. and was steaming toward Mayaguana Island.

The Matakana is a vessel of 8,048 tons owned by A. Stephen & Sons of Glasgow. She is 477 feet long, and was built in 1921.

MOVE TO STOP BALLOT ON RATE ORDINANCE IN COURT

COLUMBUS, May 1—A suit to enjoin submission of the compromise Columbus gas rate ordinance, approved by city council, to voters at the May 14 primary had been filed in Common Pleas court today.

The action was brought by City Attorney John L. Davies, who said he filed it at the request of William L. Schmidt, attorney and taxpayer. The application for a temporary injunction to restrain the board of elections from putting the issue on the ballot will be heard at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Main argument of the suit was that it was being submitted to voters only 18 days after its passage. The compromise calls for an average 58.69-cent rate for four years and the refunding to consumers of $1,500,000 in impounded money.

With a northern front as well as a western one, the European war has again become a double feature.

rescue squads, police and fire brigades rushed to the scene and the area was cordoned off immediately. Soldiers also turned out to aid the rescue workers.

In addition there was considerable aerial activity over the Humber Region during the night.

Three unidentified planes flew low over the seaford shortly before 9 p. m. and later heavy gunfire was heard at sea.

Anti-aircraft guns also went into action along the northeast coast.

Two heavy explosions were heard off the Yorkshire Coast followed by bursts of machine-gun fire and airplanes were heard overhead. It was believed that ships off the coast were being attacked.

Million Reward Put Up For Arrest of Hitler

NEW YORK, May 1—There is a reward of $1,000,000 waiting today for anybody who delivers Adolf Hitler "alive, unwounded and unhurt" into the custody of the League of Nations.

This offer was made in behalf of a number of Pittsburgh residents by Samuel H. Church, president of the Carnegie Institute, in a letter to the New York Times. The letter stated:

"In order to prevent further bloodshed and outrage in this war of German aggression, I am authorized by competent Americans to offer a reward of $1,000,000 to be paid in cash to the person or persons who will deliver Adolf Hitler, alive, unwounded and unhurt, into the custody of the League of Nations, for trial before a high court of justice for his crimes against the peace and dignity of the world. This proposal will stand good through the month of May, 1940."

Church was quoted as saying that the group offering the reward was "not over-optimistic" about its chances of achieving its end, but that they do think that even a slim possibility is worth encouraging on the ground that capture of Hitler would avert untold suffering. Limitation of the reward offer to the month of May was for the purpose of making sure, Church said, "that seekers after the reward will act quickly."

About fifty persons, some of them women, are in the group offering the reward, Church said. The question of offering such a reward has been under discussion by a group of members of the Duquesne Club "for two or three months," he declared.

Church said the reward was offered in the hope of appealing to youthful adventurers. There is no expectation, he said, that it will give rise to any anti-Hitler attempt within the Reich.
